Mrs. Hearst To Testify Before Jury

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Catherine Hearst, the mother of fugitive newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst, will testify before a federal grand jury in Harrisburg, Pa. But she says she has no idea what she will be asked and "I don't know why I'm going."

Meanwhile, her husband, Randolph A. Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, denied allegations by a man in FBI custody that the Hearsts may be sending money to their daughter.

"Mrs. Hearst and I do not know where Patty is, have never known and have never contributed one dime to her support since the kidnapping," Hearst said Thursday.

Mrs. Hearst said she will obey a subpoena to appear in Harrisburg Tuesday. Her daughter, who joined the radical Symbionese Liberation Army which kidnapped her, has been missing for 18 months.

The same grand jury has subpoenaed sports activist Jack Scott and his wife, Micki, to testify Monday. They say they will not cooperate.

Walter Scott, Jack Scott's brother who disappeared last week only to turn up in custody of the FBI, has suggested the Hearsts are supporting Patricia. He has suggested his brother, sister-in-law and parents are involved with the missing heiress.

Walter Scott, a 43-year-old ex-Marine, was described by his father Thursday as an alcoholic and a psychopathic liar who has been "in and out of mental hospitals." Jack Scott said his brother has "severe personal problems."

Hoffa Meet With Mob Figure Eyed

DETROIT (AP) — A confidante of ex-Teamsters boss Jimmy Hoffa revealed while under truth serum that reputed Mafia figure Anthony "Tony Jack" Giacalone tried several times to set up meetings with Hoffa before the union leader disappeared, sources say.

Louis Linteau reportedly told a psychiatrist hired by the Hoffa family that Hoffa informed him on July 29 that he was to meet Giacalone the next day. Hoffa has not been seen since July 30.

The essence of Linteau's reported interview with Dr. Bruce Danko was printed in today's Detroit Free Press.

The newspaper quoted an unidentified source as saying Danko hypnotized Linteau and several of his Airport Service Lines employees who said Hoffa told them he was to meet "Tony G and Tony P" and a third man, whose name they could not recall.

The newspaper said it was informed that Linteau told authorities Giacalone asked him twice in July to arrange meeting with Hoffa. Both meetings fell through, Linteau was quoted as saying.

Sources previously have said Hoffa was planning to meet Giacalone, former Teamsters vice president Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano, and a third man. Other sources said the third man was underworld figure Leonard Schultz, but the Free Press said it could not be confirmed through the Airport Service Lines employees.

Bangladesh President Slain

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — President Mujibur Rahman of Bangladesh, hero of his country's struggle for independence from Pakistan 3½ years ago, was killed early today in a military coup, Radio Bangladesh announced.

The radio said Sheikh Mujib had been replaced by a former close associate, Khondakar Mushtaque Ahmed, and that a 24-hour curfew had been imposed. An army officer identified as Major Dalim called in the broadcast for all citizens to "remain calm and stay at home."

Diplomatic reports reaching New Delhi said that Prime Minister Mansoor Ali and two of Sheikh Mujib's nephews had also been killed in the coup.

The reports said the coup leaders had renamed the country the "Islamic Republic of Bangladesh" instead of the "People's Republic of Bangladesh," indicating the new government planned to stress Islamic policies rather than Sheikh Mujib's socialist line. About 90 per cent of Bangladesh's estimated 77 million people are Moslems.

The coup followed growing dissatisfaction with Sheikh Mujib's failure to come up with solutions to the country's staggering economic problems.

The diplomatic reports said the coup was staged at 5:15 a.m. (7:15 p.m. Thursday EDT) and there had been sporadic fighting in the early stages around Dacca, the capital. However, two hours later "by and large everything is quiet," the reports said.

These reports were backed up by the United News of India news agency, which reported from Dacca that everything was calm in the capital and there was no indication of any opposition to the new rulers. Tanks patrolled the main streets of the city and guarded roads leading to Sheikh Mujib's residence, the agency said.

Dacca airport was reported closed to flights from India.

The Indian government radio said martial law had been proclaimed following the coup, but there was no word on this from Bangladesh.

The new president, speaking on the radio three hours after the coup, called for the support of the armed forces, police and paramilitary organizations, and appealed to "all the peace-loving countrymen to do your duty and cooperate with the new government."

Ahmed, who was foreign trade minister under Sheikh Mujib, also asked foreign governments to extend diplomatic recognition to his new government.

There was no immediate reaction from Indian Prime Minister Indira

Gandhi, who backed Sheikh Mujib first in his independence campaign and then as leader of Bangladesh.

A State Department source in Washington said "details are very sketchy" from the U.S. Embassy in Dacca, but the source added "there is no threat or danger to life or property of Americans there at the moment."

Bangladesh, the former eastern wing of Pakistan, emerged as a separate state after months of agitation that led to war in December 1971 between India and Pakistan.

City Board Of Education Completes Many Details For School Opening

By SUE BOYER
Herald Staff Writer

Several last minute details for the opening of school were completed by the Circleville Board of Education Thursday night. The board approved the employment of three certificated staff members which completes the staff assignments for the 1975-76 school year beginning on Sept. 2.

Also approved under employment were three extracurricular assignments, two transfers within the non-certificated staff and the addition of two new custodians.

Deborah Matthews was employed to teach under the Title I program on the elementary level. She holds a bachelor of arts degree from Capital University and has no experience credit.

Also employed under the Title I program was Sara Virginia Barnes with a bachelor of science degree from Ohio State University. She has no experience and will teach remedial reading on the junior high level.

The board then employed Betsy Moore as a speech therapist under a 7-10 time contract. She holds a bachelor of science degree from Miami University and is a beginning teacher.

Tom Cole was named head baseball coach with Ty Ankrom appointed assistant baseball coach. Jim Diltz was offered a supplemental contract to coach the cross-country team.

Effective at the beginning of the school term, Ronnie McCain and William Hettinger will be added to the custodial staff. Both have worked on a substitute basis. The board also approved transferring Charles Rhymer of the non-certificated staff to Atwater Elementary and Charles Ward to the high school.

The resignation of Mary Hedges, half-time cook at Nicholas Drive was accepted and Marilyn Timberlake was employed in that position. Bus driver Anna Gleason was employed to take the Wayne Township kindergarten students home from the a.m. session.

In other action pertaining to the opening of school, the board awarded the bread bid for the lunchrooms to the Betsy Ross Bakery. Circleville's superintendent Fritz Jacobs advised the board that three bakeries had submitted bids but Betsy Ross was the low bidder and the contract stipulates that all prices quoted are firm for the entire school year. The same bakery provided the district with bread products last year.

The following persons were approved as substitute teachers for the coming school year on the secondary level: Ruth Tootle, Virgil Cress, Mary Buckel, Charlene Klim, Martha Wiggins, Margaret Rooney, Helen Davis, Clara Teegardin, Helen Amsbury, Diane Wilson, Vicki Bilchak, James McKee and Carol Albright.

Twenty people were approved as substitutes on the elementary level. They are: Donna Hamilton, Mildred Turner, Louise Brown, Mary Johnson, Annabelle Mowery, Linda Hill, Waneta Vorhees, Marsha Kowalski, Frances Pritt, Frances Rose, Rebecca Flack, Susie Colley, Martha Reid, Lucille Scott, Florence Baker, Cinda Pribble, Amy Streeter, Peggy Boulden, Patricia DeWitt and Patricia Humphrey.

Tutors approved were Marsha Kowalski, Marilyn Scranton, Paula Kingsley, Mildred Turner, Polly Thomas, Mary Ella Metzler, Doris Schimpf and Florence Baker.

School bus routes and teacher assignments for the school year were also approved during the regular meeting. Lists of each will appear later in the Herald.

Student fees were approved and Jacobs reminded the board that these fees are the same as last school year. High school fees are as follows: chemistry and physics, $1 each; biology, $2; home economics, $1.50; industrial arts, $2 per year plus cost of materials for individual projects; (Continued on Page 18)

Beasties On Loose All Across Nation

Capybaras took to the hills and a wallaroo got loose in California, elephants were on parade in Meadville, Pa., and a prize bull went after some sheriff's deputies in Lima, Ohio.

In fact, critters all over the country seem to be taking to their heels these days, giving cops and zookeepers the summertime frenzies.

Frank Coghlan of the Los Angeles Zoo says most escapes are the result of poor security but philosophizes that "some animals who get out get gone some after a while and go back (to the zoo)."

Others don't come back on their own. Like Lilly and Isa, two elephants who recently led authorities on a three-week chase through the grasslands of Oklahoma.

Then there was an ocelot named Mommy who was on the loose for five days in New York City before being captured by police. She bit one cop on the knee before giving up.

And in Chicago, police say they haven't heard from Kinky the kangaroo since mid-July when a housewife in central Illinois reported seeing him. Kinky, you will remember, allegedly beat up on two policemen in the Chicago area last winter. But since no one has reported a 5½-foot hopper missing, some people think he is mythic.

On Thursday, a 1,100-pound prize Charolais bull broke loose from the county fairground and blocked traffic on Interstate 75 near Lima for more than an hour. Two of the sheriff's patrol cars were gored, one seriously, before the angered bull was rounded up.

In Fresno, Calif., authorities are looking all over town for a 10-month-old, 15-pound wallaroo that has been missing several days.

Roeding Park zookeepers said they first realized one of 11 wallaroos — kangaroo cousins — was missing when a startled newspaper carrier spotted it hopping down a street. Officials theorize he was probably stolen by someone for a pet and then hopped away on his own.

In Irvine, Calif., animal control officers continued to comb the rolling hills of Orange County today in an attempt to locate a 40-pound rodent which escaped from Lion Country Safari.

Capy the capybara, an aquatic mammal from South America that grows to 4 feet in length, left the sprawling park after keepers drained his watery habitat for cleaning.

Capybaras, the world's largest rodents, feed on water vegetation and are harmless, a spokeswoman for the wildlife park said. But they may wind up in your swimming pool or other wet areas.

Five other capybaras left the park Friday and all have returned to "the old chow bucket," she said.

In Meadville, Pa., three elephants ad libbed a roadside show for rubberneckers after escaping from a wrecked circus wagon Wednesday.

The truck lost its brakes on Main Street and struck two utility poles, a pickup truck and at least two cars before coming to rest. Everyone involved escaped serious injury.

The trainer for the Clyde Beatty Cole Brothers Circus led the pachyderms out of the trailer and the town gathered to watch.

"They came out of that trailer nose-to-tail, just like they're supposed to," a policeman said.

RFK Probe Reopened By Judge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New ballistics tests have been ordered in an effort to resolve lingering questions about a "second-gun" theory in the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Superior Court Judge Robert A. Wenke on Thursday ordered the eight-shot .22-caliber pistol taken as evidence in the June 5, 1968 slaying fired again.

The order came during a hearing on a suit by Paul Schrade, one of those wounded in the volley of shots fired at Kennedy. He was joined in the court action by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors.

His suit to reopening the investigation into Kennedy's death seeks release of a 10-volume police report on the assassination and all physical evidence in the case.

Sirhan B. Sirhan is serving a life sentence for killing Kennedy. The case is being reopened to resolve doubts by some persons over whether Sirhan acted by himself.

Criminologists Herbert McDonnell of New York and Lowell Bradford of Campbell, Calif., maintained after examination of pictures of the bullets fired in Kennedy's assassination that two of the bullets were fired from two different guns.

Wenke's order directs attorneys to report to him by Sept. 11 on whether they have agreed upon a method to test-fire the weapon wrestled from the hands of Sirhan at the scene of the crime. If no agreement is reached, he said he will study briefs and appoint experts to test-fire the gun.

Weather

Warm and humid with showers and thundershowers likely today, tonight and Saturday. High today, mid 80s. Low tonight, upper 60s. High Saturday, mid 80s. Probability of precipitation, 70 per cent, today, tonight and Saturday.

Bible College Gets Federal Grant

Congressman William H. Harsha announced today that the U.S. office of Education has awarded $3,545 to Circleville Bible College.

The money is a supplemental grant authorized under Title IV of the higher Education Act of 1965 to benefit seven students for the period from July 1 of this year through June 30, 1976.

Bronfman Demands Said Met

YORKTOWN HEIGHTS, N.Y. (AP) — Multimillionaire Edgar Bronfman says he has complied with all demands of his son's kidnapers and is begging for a sign that Samuel Bronfman 2nd is still alive and well.

Saying the 21-year-old whisky scion's abductor's "have failed to follow through," Bronfman noted that "time is going by" and pleaded with the kidnapers to renew contact through an agreed upon secret telephone number.

The concern with fleeting time referred to a warning from the kidnapers that a record $4.5 million ransom would have to be paid within 10 days for Samuel's safe return. They said the victim was buried somewhere in Westchester County with only 10 days' supply of water and air.

The kidnapers failed to say when the 10 days began, but officials have assumed they meant 10 days from the day of the warning, Monday.

Neither the family nor the FBI would say whether Bronfman, chairman of the Seagram's Co. Ltd. of Montreal, world's largest distillers, had delivered the $4.5 million to the kidnapers. It was confirmed that a tape recording of Samuel's voice and instructions from the abductors was received.

Jonathan Rinehart, a public relations consultant and Bronfman family friend, broke a 2½ day family and official silence that had shrouded developments in the case when he met reporters Thursday on the landscaped grounds of the 150-acre family estate here and read a handwritten statement.

The statement, which he completed in two minutes, read:

"As you know, the family received a tape recording containing instructions and other evidence that these people have Sam. We are very grateful for receiving that evidence.

"We want to assure them we intend to comply with instructions and we have done so. However, the abductors so far have failed to follow through. We ask them now to renew their contacts by calling us at the number they originally indicated.

"But time is going by. We need additional evidence that Sam is still alive and well. We repeat, we are prepared to comply with instructions, which must be clear, specific and practical. And we urge them to contact the family with additional evidence that Sam is still alive and well."

Rinehart refused to answer questions or say anything beyond the text of the statement, apparently worded to smooth negotiations for Samuel's return.

The quickened pace of developments Wednesday night and increased traffic of helicopters and carloads of FBI agents in and out of the estate had raised hopes that the kidnap drama was nearing a climax, but Bronfman's statement dashed that optimism.

Early today, the sixth day of Samuel's disappearance, there was no report from the family, the FBI or other sources that contact had been renewed with the abductors.

Samuel Bronfman, a June graduate of Williams College, was seized as he drove to his mother's house late Friday in nearby Purchase, N.Y., following a late dinner with his father here.

At 1:45 a.m. Saturday, he telephoned Bronfman to say three men had kidnapped him. His car was found in his mother's garage, the key in the ignition.

CARRIAGE COLLECTION—William Green of Orient, will display his collection of 44 horse-drawn vehicles at the Farm Heritage Days being planned by the agriculture committee of the Pickaway County Bicentennial Commission. The event will be held Sept. 20-21 at the William Green Farm and at the Drummond Brothers Farm, both located in northwestern Pickaway County. The event will feature displays of antique farm machinery, a wheat threshing operation with steam engines, sorghum making, and other farm activities. Looking over the carriage collection are George Roth, Steve Bower, Green, Dale Bower and George Hamrick.

The quickened pace of developments Wednesday night and increased traffic of helicopters and carloads of FBI agents in and out of the estate had raised hopes that the kidnap drama was nearing a climax, but Bronfman's statement dashed that optimism.

Early today, the sixth day of Samuel's disappearance, there was no report from the family, the FBI or other sources that contact had been renewed with the abductors.

Samuel Bronfman, a June graduate of Williams College, was seized as he drove to his mother's house late Friday in nearby Purchase, N.Y., following a late dinner with his father here.

At 1:45 a.m. Saturday, he telephoned Bronfman to say three men had kidnapped him. His car was found in his mother's garage, the key in the ignition.

CARRIAGE COLLECTION—William Green of Orient, will display his collection of 44 horse-drawn vehicles at the Farm Heritage Days being planned by the agriculture committee of the Pickaway County Bicentennial Commission. The event will be held Sept. 20-21 at the William Green Farm and at the Drummond Brothers Farm, both located in northwestern Pickaway County. The event will feature displays of antique farm machinery, a wheat threshing operation with steam engines, sorghum making, and other farm activities. Looking over the carriage collection are George Roth, Steve Bower, Green, Dale Bower and George Hamrick.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market registered a mild technical advance in light trading today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.60 at 820.64, and gainers outdistanced losers by about a 5-3 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers were inclined to play down the significance of the upswing because of its extremely slow pace. Volume totaled only 4.70 million shares for the first two hours on the Big Board—one of the slowest morning totals of the year.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .15 at 86 even.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks climbed .20 to 45.84.

President Pushes For Speedy Action On Energy Problem

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — Calling the nation's energy problem a "giant puzzle," President Ford said today he will veto an extension of price controls on domestic oil and promised to remove his $2-a-barrel tariff on imported oil if Congress sustains the veto.

The President said the twin actions would increase the price of petroleum products only a few cents a gallon, "contrary to what others have predicted."

"Tough decisions are needed now," Ford said in remarks prepared for a Vail symposium on energy and the environment. "We're running out of time."

He said his program is needed to increase domestic oil prices gradually, thus forcing energy conservation, stimulating domestic production and reducing U.S. dependence on imported petroleum.

The President's talk was scheduled before an estimated 1,000 persons at a mountaintop restaurant reached only by cable-lift gondola. Ford also was to answer questions submitted in writing by delegates and selected in advance by a symposium committee.

"The on-again, off-again congressional approach to energy is hazardous, expensive and frightening," Ford told the delegates. He urged Congress to end its month-long battle with the White House on energy policy.

Ford also declared the nation must reduce its dependence on oil and gas for energy and use its technology over the next 25 to 50 years to develop alternate sources, such as solar energy.

He said the safe and environmentally sound tapping of the nation's vast coal reserves is essential.

"The nation's capacity to convert coal into clean, gaseous and liquid fuel can and must be developed," he told the audience of Westerners, whose states harbor nearly half of U.S. coal reserves.

Current oil price controls, which limit the price of 60 per cent of domestically produced oil to $5.25 a barrel, are scheduled to expire Aug. 31. Congress voted to extend the controls six months, and it plans to send the legislation to the White House late this month.

Anticipating a Ford veto, the House has scheduled a veto override attempt for early September.

"If Congress also enacts my two proposals — for energy refunds to consumers and a windfall profits tax on oil companies, then the impact of decontrol, cushioned by the removal of import fees, will not hinder economic recovery."

If the veto is sustained, and Ford said it "must" be, the price of so-called old domestic oil is expected to rise to the free-market price of about $12 a barrel.

The lifting of the $2-a-barrel import fee, which Ford imposed in two steps earlier this year, is one of several measures he is considering to soften the inflationary impact of higher prices that would result on a number of petroleum products if controls are removed.

A U.S. Court of Appeals ruled earlier this week that the fee is illegal. However, the administration said Thursday that it will appeal the decision to the Supreme Court in an effort to establish that Ford does have the authority to impose such fees.

See Miami Beach Ghost Town Unless Tourism Is Revived

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — This resort city will become a ghost town unless money is spent, and spent soon, to attract more out-of-towners, leaders of the tourist industry warn.

"We are begging you people," Herbert Schiffman, head of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Association, told the City Council Thursday. "Unless we all get together, we are not going to have a Miami Beach, and I don't think you want to preside over a ghost town."

Visitors are deserting the city this summer, the council was told. The tourist industry officials urged councilmen to approve emergency funding for beach restoration, a national publicity campaign and new attractions to lure tourists.

They asked also for tax relief for hotel renovation.

"A majority of our hotels are in such bad physical shape that it's hard to attract the conventions you want," said convention consultant Art Weider. "You've heard about the hotels that are closed. But you may not know that possibly a dozen more are on the verge, trying to beat the wolves away from the door."

Many speakers said restoration of the city's eroded beaches is the top priority in the campaign to attract tourist dollars. They urged councilmen to examine the county treasury, federal revenue-sharing aid or the

Kidnapped Little Girl Discovered

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Elaine Tucker, the blonde 7-year-old authorities say was kidnapped a week ago, has been found alive in a dry riverbed, wrapped in a blanket.

"As far as we know, she's okay," said her father, El Cajon dentist Phillip Taylor.

The youngster, who apparently had been dragged over 10 miles of mountainous desert, seemed dazed as she was flown home by helicopter. She had several mosquito bites and had scratches on her face, legs and feet.

Authorities said a 19-year-old Mexican national was booked in San Diego County Jail for investigation of kidnapping and burglary. Bail was set at $100,000 for the youth, Alberto Varon Ibarra.

The hero was Doug Knoell, a border patrolman for five years who was out looking for illegal aliens early Thursday when his car searchlight fell on a footprint.

"It was exactly like the one I had found about seven hours before that, about two miles away in Chula Vista," he said.

President Pushes For Speedy Action On Energy Problem

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — Calling the nation's energy problem a "giant puzzle," President Ford said today he will veto an extension of price controls on domestic oil and promised to remove his $2-a-barrel tariff on imported oil if Congress sustains the veto.

The President said the twin actions would increase the price of petroleum products only a few cents a gallon, "contrary to what others have predicted."

"Tough decisions are needed now," Ford said in remarks prepared for a Vail symposium on energy and the environment. "We're running out of time."

He said his program is needed to increase domestic oil prices gradually, thus forcing energy conservation, stimulating domestic production and reducing U.S. dependence on imported petroleum.

The President's talk was scheduled before an estimated 1,000 persons at a mountaintop restaurant reached only by cable-lift gondola. Ford also was to answer questions submitted in writing by delegates and selected in advance by a symposium committee.

"The on-again, off-again congressional approach to energy is hazardous, expensive and frightening," Ford told the delegates. He urged Congress to end its month-long battle with the White House on energy policy.

Ford also declared the nation must reduce its dependence on oil and gas for energy and use its technology over the next 25 to 50 years to develop alternate sources, such as solar energy.

He said the safe and environmentally sound tapping of the nation's vast coal reserves is essential.

"The nation's capacity to convert coal into clean, gaseous and liquid fuel can and must be developed," he told the audience of Westerners, whose states harbor nearly half of U.S. coal reserves.

Current oil price controls, which limit the price of 60 per cent of domestically produced oil to $5.25 a barrel, are scheduled to expire Aug. 31. Congress voted to extend the controls six months, and it plans to send the legislation to the White House late this month.

Anticipating a Ford veto, the House has scheduled a veto override attempt for early September.

"If Congress also enacts my two proposals — for energy refunds to consumers and a windfall profits tax on oil companies, then the impact of decontrol, cushioned by the removal of import fees, will not hinder economic recovery."

If the veto is sustained, and Ford said it "must" be, the price of so-called old domestic oil is expected to rise to the free-market price of about $12 a barrel.

The lifting of the $2-a-barrel import fee, which Ford imposed in two steps earlier this year, is one of several measures he is considering to soften the inflationary impact of higher prices that would result on a number of petroleum products if controls are removed.

A U.S. Court of Appeals ruled earlier this week that the fee is illegal. However, the administration said Thursday that it will appeal the decision to the Supreme Court in an effort to establish that Ford does have the authority to impose such fees.

See Miami Beach Ghost Town Unless Tourism Is Revived

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — This resort city will become a ghost town unless money is spent, and spent soon, to attract more out-of-towners, leaders of the tourist industry warn.

"We are begging you people," Herbert Schiffman, head of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Association, told the City Council Thursday. "Unless we all get together, we are not going to have a Miami Beach, and I don't think you want to preside over a ghost town."

Visitors are deserting the city this summer, the council was told. The tourist industry officials urged councilmen to approve emergency funding for beach restoration, a national publicity campaign and new attractions to lure tourists.

They asked also for tax relief for hotel renovation.

"A majority of our hotels are in such bad physical shape that it's hard to attract the conventions you want," said convention consultant Art Weider.

"You've heard about the hotels that are closed. But you may not know that possibly a dozen more are on the verge, trying to beat the wolves away from the door."

Many speakers said restoration of the city's eroded beaches is the top priority in the campaign to attract tourist dollars. They urged councilmen to examine the county treasury, federal revenue-sharing aid or the

Kidnapped Little Girl Discovered

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Elaine Tucker, the blonde 7-year-old authorities say was kidnapped a week ago, has been found alive in a dry riverbed, wrapped in a blanket.

"As far as we know, she's okay," said her father, El Cajon dentist Phillip Taylor.

The youngster, who apparently had been dragged over 10 miles of mountainous desert, seemed dazed as she was flown home by helicopter. She had several mosquito bites and had scratches on her face, legs and feet.

Authorities said a 19-year-old Mexican national was booked in San Diego County Jail for investigation of kidnapping and burglary. Bail was set at $100,000 for the youth, Alberto Varon Ibarra.

The hero was Doug Knoell, a border patrolman for five years who was out looking for illegal aliens early Thursday when his car searchlight fell on a footprint.

"It was exactly like the one I had found about seven hours before that, about two miles away in Chula Vista," he said.

city's general fund as possible sources for a $2 million advance to keep a beach restoration project going.

The federal government, which was expected to fund the bulk of the project, has balked at advancing money in this tight budget year, officials said.

There was one bright spot in the generally bleak tourism picture Thursday. City officials said national Republican leaders are considering Miami Beach as a site for the 1976 GOP convention.

But Joel Gray, president of the Southern Florida Hotel and Motel Association, said more immediate help is needed.

"Tourism is sick on Miami Beach and needs remedies now before it is too late," Gray said. "We need help and we need it now. Next year is going to be a little too late."

Recent hotel occupancy and other tourism figures were not available.

Laurelville Couple To Be Honored At Fair

The Buckeye Hills-Hocking Valley Regional Development District has selected four older people to be honored at the Ohio State Fair on August 22 for their achievements and community involvement with senior citizens.

Receiving awards during special ceremonies at 2 p.m. at the senior citizen area will be: Mr. and Mrs. Grover Fox, Laurelville; Mrs. Dolly Kleinschmidt, Logan; Harley Ellinger, Logan.

Senior citizen groups from Hocking County will be participating in the programs sponsored by the Commission on Aging on August 22. These programs include talent shows, sale of homemade items, nutrition demonstrations, musical entertainment by youth groups, and voting issues and concern to the elderly.

Half price admission tickets are available at Scenic Hills Senior Center for people 60 or over who have their own transportation. Tickets must be purchased in advance and are not sold at the fair gates.

Payment
To Dead Man
Stirs Fuss

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Bar Association will investigate the payment of $2,500 from the Ohio Industrial Commission to a Toledo lawyer who collected a workmen's compensation claim on behalf of a dead man, the association's president said Thursday.

Daniel I. Rosenthal, bar association president, said his group will look into the payment to Toledo attorney George H. Fell, a former assistant Ohio attorney general and an officer of the Lucas County Republican Party for more than 30 years.

Newspaper reports said Fell filed a claim on behalf of his client L.D. Fulcher of Toledo, who died in August, 1974, two months before his application for payment was submitted to the Industrial Commission.

Fell filed a lump sum application on October, 1974, in Fulcher's name and the commission approved the request within a day.

A lump sum is an advance payment to a claimant drawn from expected future benefits to be paid to him. All benefits are supposed to stop upon death.

Fell has told a newspaper that he submitted an application for the $2,500 lump sum payment in the name of the dead man out of a sense of frustration that his client's death had deprived him of his legal fee.

Fell declined to comment Thursday on whether he plans to return the $2,500.

Tax Return
Appeal Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state auditor's office said Thursday it would appeal a Franklin County Common Pleas Court decision forbidding it to look at 243,000 individual state income tax returns.

Marc Ullom, general counsel for the office, said Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson would seek to overturn a ruling by Judge Tommy Thompson that blocked access to the returns.

Thompson's decision came in a lawsuit filed by Tax Commissioner Gerald S. Collins, who claimed the returns were confidential and protected by state law.

Collins, a Republican appointed by Gov. James A. Rhodes, claimed Ferguson, a Democrat, was on a politically motivated "fishing expedition."

Ferguson said the inspection of the returns was essential to auditing of the Department of Taxation.

Thompson said the "official purpose" law Ferguson cited as reason for wanting to look at the returns was valid but that it did not constitute sufficient authority to violate the statutory confidentiality of income tax returns.

A Page Of Opinion

Problems In Portugal

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has told the Soviet Union to quit helping the Portuguese communists in subverting that nation.

The chance that the Soviets will listen is small. More than likely, they will simply ignore U.S. protests and continue their monetary and tactical support to the Red minority in that NATO nation.

That minority seeks to worm its way into the governing structure of Portugal, with predictable results.

Lenin put it this way more than 50 years ago: "There can be a question only utilizing bourgeois state institutions with the object of destroying them . . . The Communist Party enters such institutions not in order to do constructive work, but in order to direct the masses to destroy from within the whole bourgeois state machine and parliament itself."

This would appear to be the path taken in Portugal now. The United States should, and must, take steps to block a Red takeover, at its own self-interest.

Portugal is important, both as a sovereign nation and as western anchor of NATO. But, more importantly to the United States, loss of Portugal to the communists would mean loss of the Azores Islands as an American base.

The United States actually sidestepped into the Azores as partners of Great Britain in World War II, after Britain invoked a clause in their own treaty with Portugal. Since then, the Azores have become critical to the ability of the United States to project naval and air power across the Mediterranean.

Without the bases in the Azores, the U.S. could be unable both to sustain the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean, and to provide help to Israel and the NATO nations along that ocean.

In addition, while loss of the Azores to the U.S. would be a severe setback, a takeover of those same bases by the Soviet Navy would be even worse.

A Soviet naval force based that far into the Atlantic could easily sever U.S. lifelines to Europe.

Thus, Portugal's problems are our problems. We had better act, if only to protect ourselves.

Rip-Off Of Poland

By JIM BISHOP

The people of the United States stifled a yawn last week as President Gerald Ford signed an official agreement making it legal that Poland is a slave to Red Russia.

No one seemed to notice. It was all such old news — Estonia, Latvia, Poland had been gobbled by the big bear 30 years ago. If the Soviet Union felt comfortable and righteous about it, they didn't need Ford's signature to endorse the new boundaries.

I am not trying to upset détente. I favor it. But I must continue to wonder how far we must go to appease the Russians; to what lengths must we trudge to win an amiable handshake from a government which slaughtered 3,000,000 of its own people to achieve absolute power?

The pages of history turn yellow and curl too quickly. Every schoolboy should know that Hitler did not dare to move his armies east into Poland, in September, 1939, without first securing the permission of the Russians.

And they weren't giving it until they got something. So Germany carved Poland in advance — all Poland west of the Vistula River would belong to Germany. The vast tracts east of the Vistula — Russia's.

Russia signed. Hitler's strategy was basically simple: One enemy at a time. Von Blaskowitz's army stabbed 300 miles into Poland in 10 days, the swiftest movement of tanks, soldiers, dive bombers, kitchens, hospitals and fuel ever known.

Then Germany rested. And moved westward against the French and British armies, rolling them up along the French coast. Norway was next. One at a time. On June 21, 1941, Hitler turned against friendly Russia.

The giant was too awkward to protect himself, and too big to be strangled manually. At the gates of Moscow and Leningrad, the snows came. Russia begged the U.S. for guns, butter, tanks. We sent it.

President Franklin Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill met with the Russians at Yalta in February, 1945. Those three were the ultimate victors. They agreed on almost everything but Poland.

Britain and the U.S. said that all lands lost to Poland should be restored, and free elections held. The Russians said "Nyet." They had armies crossing Poland to get to Berlin. "We must protect our rear with a friendly government."

There were two Polish governments. One was the Government-in-Exile in London. Another was devised by the Russians inside Poland, called the Lublin government.

Churchill growled that his government would fall if he went home admitting that the Russians owned Poland. FDR wrote to Josef Stalin: "I have had to make it clear to you that we cannot recognize the Lublin government as now composed . . . you mentioned the possibility of bringing some members of the Lublin government here."

The Russians waited a day and said they couldn't reach their puppet government on the telephone. However, after the Yalta Conference, free elections would be held. U.S. and British ambassadors could be "observers" at the elections.

The Soviet said it proposed to keep the part of Poland that Hitler had given, but, to be honorable about it, Russia proposed to give Poland a big chunk of Germany. That would square everything.

When the Yalta Agreement was published, a special section had to be given to Poland: "We came to the Crimea resolved to settle our differences about Poland. We discussed fully all aspects of the question. We affirm our common desire to see established a strong, free, independent and democratic Poland."

"As a result of our joint discussion we have agreed on the conditions in which a new Polish Provisional Government of National Unity may be formed in such a manner as to command recognition by the three major powers. . . ."

Harry Hopkins whispered to Edward Stettinius: "This is the day we all prayed for so many years." His prayers went unanswered. So did the prayers of millions of Poles. The elections were not held, then or now.

Last week the Russian bear danced in glee as President Ford made those artificial borders official. Ford might have said: Well, after 30 years, what is the use of protesting? If so, he hasn't studied history. The Americans slaved under the yoke of Britain for 150 years before they struck a blow for liberty ty. . . .

Crash Kills 2 Persons

CELINA, Ohio (AP) — David J. Crumb, 49, and his son, Dale, 9, of Pinedale, Wyo., were killed Thursday when their car collided with a tractor-trailer rig on Ohio 29 east of Celina. Another son, Bryan, 13, was hospitalized here in serious condition.

Coffee Pact Must Stay

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State purchasing chief John Kiger recommended Wednesday that a Chicago firm be held to a contract to supply state institutions with coffee over the current fiscal year.

Richheimer Coffee Co. has asked to get out of a contract which went into effect July 1 because of an "act of God" that damaged the Brazilian coffee crop.

Kiger said he rejected the request from Richheimer Coffee Co., and believes the legal advisors within the Department of Administrative Services will concur.

Kiger said the firm had a one-year contract, which went into effect July 1, to supply the state with coffee for $102,000. The preceding fiscal year, the state spent $126,051 for 125,000 pounds, he said.

A frost in Brazil jumped coffee prices from 53 cents to 82 cents a pound. Columbia coffee went from 66 cents to $1.01 cents a pound, the firm said.

Kiger said the contract had an escalator clause permitting Richheimer to hike prices by 10 per cent in the fourth month if market conditions changed and gave it the right to cancel in the seventh month.

Richheimer sought to cancel Sept. 30.

"I'll have the businessperson's lunch."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I've been told that you once described how paraffin could relieve the pain of arthritis. Just how is this applied?

Mrs. G. K., N.H.

Dear Mrs. K.:

Long before the use of gold therapy, or cortisone and ACTH for the treatment of some forms of arthritis, relief of pain was obtained by the use of ordinary paraffin.

This waxy substance is similar to the kind used to preserve jams.

The paraffin is melted and allowed to cool to about 150 degrees F. Special care must be taken because hot paraffin can be deceptive and cause painful burns. The outer layer may seem to be cool, but the underneath portion may be extremely hot.

The painful arthritic hand or foot is first covered with a thin layer of mineral oil and then dipped into the warm paraffin. When the hand or foot is taken out and exposed to the air, the paraffin becomes firm. This can be repeated a number of times until a heavy layer surrounds the hand or foot.

The basis for this effective pain reliever is that the heat of the paraffin is retained for a long time and brings soothing relief.

Paraffin is not a form of treatment that should be used as a substitute for available drugs. But it can be a source of comfort for some painful types of arthritis.

Whenever I get an infection of the tonsils or the throat the glands in my neck become swollen. Is this a dangerous sign?

Miss B. C., Neb.

Dear Miss C.:

On the contrary, swelling of the glands in the neck indicates that your body defenses are in excellent order.

Infection by bacteria extends from its original site through the lymph glands. The glands become a protective device to keep infections from spreading into the blood stream and into distant parts of the body.

It is common for an infection of the finger to be followed by swelling of the glands in the armpit. This is another evidence of how the body defenses keep infections localized.

The protective aspects of glands in all parts of the body are part of the wondrous mechanism of the body defenses.

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for the kindness and friendship shown our family during a recent emergency. A very special thanks to the Bennetts of the North End Market, The Circleville Police, Dr. Charles Hedges, Berger Hospital and especially the new Circleville Emergency Medical Service.

On Monday evening, July 21, 1975 my wife and I were at the North End Market, when suddenly my wife collapsed with a heart attack. The quick action of the Bennetts in calling the Circleville Police and they in turn contacting the Circleville Emergency Team and Berger Hospital saved her life. Let me tell you every one knew their job and did it. In less than 5 minutes the EMT squad with the know how of the technicians on duty, Jack Mader and Dannie Fouts had used the Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitator and had restored her breathing function and were on the way to Berger Hospital where Emergency Room Personnel were waiting with IV equipment. Within an hour after her collapse thanks to Mr. Wellman and to Sandy Bensonhaver & Joyce Peters, the nurses who rode with her and kept her breathing, she was in Surgery at Mount Carmel Hospital in Columbus where more live saving techniques were successfully used.

Measure On Hookers Bypassed

MONTREAL (AP) — American lawyers ended their annual meeting after bypassing a controversial amendment backing moves to legalize prostitution.

The American Bar Association's House of Delegates voted to defer action on the prostitution measure until its mid-February meeting after a two-hour debate on another issue tied up proceedings Wednesday afternoon. Backers of the amendment had been hopeful of success at the Montreal session.

The ABA concluded its weeklong conference with a dinner and dance at which former Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski received the organization's highest award for "an innovative contribution to American jurisprudence, that is, the search of the American people for true and universal justice."

The issue which caused the extended debate was whether the ABA should support the Senate's "S-1" bill, which seeks to recodify under one statute the vast body of federal criminal law that has accumulated over the years.

It's called the "something-for-everyone" bill and among its hundreds of provisions in more than 700 pages are proposals to liberalize marijuana laws, restore the death penalty, lengthen maximum prison sentences, provide compensation for violent crime victims and place the press under severe restrictions.

They'll Do It Every Time

A Page Of Opinion

Problems In Portugal

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has told the Soviet Union to quit helping the Portuguese communists in subverting that nation.

The chance that the Soviets will listen is small. More than likely, they will simply ignore U.S. protests and continue their monetary and tactical support to the Red minority in that NATO nation.

That minority seeks to worm its way into the governing structure of Portugal, with predictable results.

Lenin put it this way more than 50 years ago: "There can be a question only utilizing bourgeois state institutions with the object of destroying them . . . The Communist Party enters such institutions not in order to do constructive work, but in order to direct the masses to destroy from within the whole bourgeois state machine and parliament itself."

This would appear to be the path taken in Portugal now. The United States should, and must, take steps to block a Red takeover, at its own self-interest.

Portugal is important, both as a sovereign nation and as western anchor of NATO. But, more importantly to the United States, loss of Portugal to the communists would mean loss of the Azores Islands as an American base.

The United States actually sidestepped into the Azores as partners of Great Britain in World War II, after Britain invoked a clause in their own treaty with Portugal. Since then, the Azores have become critical to the ability of the United States to project naval and air power across the Mediterranean.

Without the bases in the Azores, the U.S. could be unable both to sustain the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean, and to provide help to Israel and the NATO nations along that ocean.

In addition, while loss of the Azores to the U.S. would be a severe setback, a takeover of those same bases by the Soviet Navy would be even worse.

A Soviet naval force based that far into the Atlantic could easily sever U.S. lifelines to Europe.

Thus, Portugal's problems are our problems. We had better act, if only to protect ourselves.

Rip-Off Of Poland

By JIM BISHOP

The people of the United States stifled a yawn last week as President Gerald Ford signed an official agreement making it legal that Poland is a slave to Red Russia.

No one seemed to notice. It was all such old news — Estonia, Latvia, Poland had been gobbled by the big bear 30 years ago. If the Soviet Union felt comfortable and righteous about it, they didn't need Ford's signature to endorse the new boundaries.

I am not trying to upset détente. I favor it. But I must continue to wonder how far we must go to appease the Russians; to what lengths must we trudge to win an amiable handshake from a government which slaughtered 3,000,000 of its own people to achieve absolute power?

The pages of history turn yellow and curl too quickly. Every schoolboy should know that Hitler did not dare to move his armies east into Poland, in September, 1939, without first securing the permission of the Russians.

And they weren't giving it until they got something. So Germany carved Poland in advance — all Poland west of the Vistula River would belong to Germany. The vast tracts east of the Vistula — Russia's.

Russia signed. Hitler's strategy was basically simple: One enemy at a time. Von Blaskowitz's army stabbed 300 miles into Poland in 10 days, the swiftest movement of tanks, soldiers, dive bombers, kitchens, hospitals and fuel ever known.

Then Germany rested. And moved westward against the French and British armies, rolling them up along the French coast. Norway was next. One at a time. On June 21, 1941, Hitler turned against friendly Russia.

The giant was too awkward to protect himself, and too big to be strangled manually. At the gates of Moscow and Leningrad, the snows came. Russia begged the U.S. for guns, butter, tanks. We sent it.

President Franklin Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill met with the Russians at Yalta in February, 1945. Those three were the ultimate victors. They agreed on almost everything but Poland.

Britain and the U.S. said that all lands lost to Poland should be restored, and free elections held. The Russians said "Nyet." They had armies crossing Poland to get to Berlin. "We must protect our rear with a friendly government."

There were two Polish governments. One was the Government-in-Exile in London. Another was devised by the Russians inside Poland, called the Lublin government.

Churchill growled that his government would fall if he went home admitting that the Russians owned Poland. FDR wrote to Josef Stalin: "I have had to make it clear to you that we cannot recognize the Lublin government as now composed . . . you mentioned the possibility of bringing some members of the Lublin government here."

The Russians waited a day and said they couldn't reach their puppet government on the telephone. However, after the Yalta Conference, free elections would be held. U.S. and British ambassadors could be "observers" at the elections.

The Soviet said it proposed to keep the part of Poland that Hitler had given, but, to be honorable about it, Russia proposed to give Poland a big chunk of Germany. That would square everything.

When the Yalta Agreement was published, a special section had to be given to Poland: "We came to the Crimea resolved to settle our differences about Poland. We discussed fully all aspects of the question. We affirm our common desire to see established a strong, free, independent and democratic Poland."

"As a result of our joint discussion we have agreed on the conditions in which a new Polish Provisional Government of National Unity may be formed in such a manner as to command recognition by the three major powers. . ."

Harry Hopkins whispered to Edward Stettinius: "This is the day we all prayed for so many years." His prayers went unanswered. So did the prayers of millions of Poles. The elections were not held, then or now.

Last week the Russian bear danced in glee as President Ford made those artificial borders official. Ford might have said: Well, after 30 years, what is the use of protesting? If so, he hasn't studied history. The Americans slaved under the yoke of Britain for 150 years before they struck a blow for liberty ty. . .

Racism Behind Elyria Violence?

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Why did it happen?

Residents of this normally peaceful suburban city are asking themselves the question in the aftermath of racial unrest that by Thursday seemed to have subsided.

Ohio Highway Patrolmen continued to join city police in patrolling trouble areas which erupted Wednesday and Tuesday with firebombings, assaults and gunfire.

Elyria Mayor Leonard P. Reichlin has blamed the trouble, which resulted in injury to at least 24 persons, on radical blacks and radical whites.

At least 13 blazes were reported, mostly in the city's southwest corner where a 19-year-old black Daryl

Maxwell was shot by a white policeman Tuesday night. Police say the youth was seen climbing out of a bar and ignored police warnings to stop.

Although that was the spark that ignited the trouble, residents and city officials also cite other causes.

Charles Hopkins, the executive director of the Elyria-Community Action Agency, noted that many black men in the 16-25 age group have never been able to get a job and have dropped out of the employment market.

While the city's overall unemployment rate is 9.2 per cent, the jobless rate among blacks is between 40 per cent and 45 per cent, according to William Ogle, Elyria affirmative action director and the city's only black official.

I.C. Chapman, president of Elyria's chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he has been frustrated in getting a hearing on black problems in the city. "When officials here say they don't know what the conditions are, they are telling a lie. I have been trying to tell them for years," he said.

Chapman and other black leaders organized a team of observers to walk through the riot area Thursday night and try to keep the peace.

Mayor Reichlin defended the city's posture towards blacks. "It is not a matter of not paying attention to the black community. In three years, we won't have a slum here, but urban renewal takes a long time to complete... Everybody is entitled to a decent, safe and sanitary home, but then it is up to them to keep it that way," he said.

Elyria Police Chief Maurice C. Flood denied the black community's charge of discrimination on the force.

"We have tried to hire and we have made progress. We have one black officer," Flood said.

Elyria, which has about 53,000 residents, has a black population of 13 per cent. The police force is 1.03 per cent black, according to public records.

Two young men who witnessed some of the unrest also had their views.

Lawrence Tinney, 18, is a black cook. "I just mind my own business,"

Tinney said. "But the whites and the police, they won't leave us alone in this. You got to be with your brothers in a thing like this."

Lee Spurlock, 25, is a white golf course worker.

"This is the only thing we got, this neighborhood," Spurlock said. "Nobody really wants a race war. That's suicide. But damn it, you got to draw the line somewhere. I'm going to protect my car and my home and my life."

Little Case Goes To Jury

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The trial of Joan Little, a black woman accused of murdering her white jailer, heads for the jury today.

The jury of six blacks and six whites was expected to begin deliberation after getting instructions from Judge Hamilton Hobgood.

At issue is whether Miss Little, 21, killed jailer Clarence Alligood, 62, to defend herself during a sexual attack, as she claims, or whether it was part of a plan to escape from the Beaufort County jail, as the state contends.

Wake County Dist. Atty. Burley Mitchell, who took jurisdiction over the case when the trial was transferred here, said Thursday he would drop the charges against Miss Little if the jury cannot reach a unanimous decision.

He later said he would consult with Beaufort County Dist. Atty. William Griffin before making that decision. Griffin said he would consider how the jury split before deciding whether to prosecute a second time.

Alligood was found stabbed to death in Miss Little's cell at the jail in Washington, N.C., last Aug. 27. He was naked from the waist down.

Miss Little testified that Alligood came to her cell in the middle of the night, threatened her with an ice pick and forced her to perform oral sex on him. She said she took the ice pick away from him in a struggle and stabbed him to fend him off, then fled for her life.

Racism Behind Elyria Violence?

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Why did it happen?
Residents of this normally peaceful suburban city are asking themselves the question in the aftermath of racial unrest that by Thursday seemed to have subsided.
Ohio Highway Patrolmen continued to join city police in patrolling trouble areas which erupted Wednesday and Tuesday with firebombings, assaults and gunfire.
Elyria Mayor Leonard P. Reichlin has blamed the trouble, which resulted in injury to at least 24 persons, on radical blacks and radical whites.
At least 13 blazes were reported, mostly in the city's southwest corner where a 19-year-old black Daryl

Maxwell was shot by a white policeman Tuesday night. Police say the youth was seen climbing out of a bar and ignored police warnings to stop.
Although that was the spark that ignited the trouble, residents and city officials also cite other causes.
Charles Hopkins, the executive director of the Elyria-Community Action Agency, noted that many black men in the 16-25 age group have never been able to get a job and have dropped out of the employment market.
While the city's overall unemployment rate is 9.2 per cent, the jobless rate among blacks is between 40 per cent and 45 per cent, according to William Ogle, Elyria affirmative action director and the city's only black official.
I.C. Chapman, president of Elyria's chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he has been frustrated in getting a hearing on black problems in the city.
"When officials here say they don't know what the conditions are, they are telling a lie. I have been trying to tell them for years," he said.
Chapman and other black leaders organized a team of observers to walk through the riot area Thursday night and try to keep the peace.
Mayor Reichlin defended the city's posture towards blacks. "It is not a matter of not paying attention to the black community. In three years, we won't have a slum here, but urban renewal takes a long time to complete... Everybody is entitled to a decent, safe and sanitary home, but then it is up to them to keep it that way," he said.
Elyria Police Chief Maurice C. Flood denied the black community's charge of discrimination on the force.

"We have tried to hire and we have made progress. We have one black officer," Flood said.
Elyria, which has about 53,000 residents, has a black population of 13 per cent. The police force is 1.03 per cent black, according to public records.
Two young men who witnessed some of the unrest also had their views.
Lawrence Tinney, 18, is a black cook. "I just mind my own business," Tinney said. "But the whites and the police, they won't leave us alone in this. You got to be with your brothers in a thing like this."
Lee Spurlock, 25, is a white golf course worker.
"This is the only thing we got, this neighborhood," Spurlock said. "Nobody really wants a race war. That's suicide. But damn it, you got to draw the line somewhere. I'm going to protect my car and my home and my life."

Little Case Goes To Jury

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The trial of Joan Little, a black woman accused of murdering her white jailer, heads for the jury today.
The jury of six blacks and six whites was expected to begin deliberation after getting instructions from Judge Hamilton Hobgood.
At issue is whether Miss Little, 21, killed jailer Clarence Allgood, 62, to defend herself during a sexual attack, as she claims, or whether it was part of a plan to escape from the Beaufort County jail, as the state contends.
Wake County Dist. Atty. Burley Mitchell, who took jurisdiction over the case when the trial was transferred here, said Thursday he would drop the charges against Miss Little if the jury cannot reach a unanimous decision.
He later said he would consult with Beaufort County Dist. Atty. William Griffin before making that decision. Griffin said he would consider how the jury split before deciding whether to prosecute a second time.
Allgood was found stabbed to death in Miss Little's cell at the jail in Washington, N.C., last Aug. 27. He was naked from the waist down.
Miss Little testified that Allgood came to her cell in the middle of the night, threatened her with an ice pick and forced her to perform oral sex on him. She said she took the ice pick away from him in a struggle and stabbed him to fend him off, then fled for her life.

Ohio's weather will be dominated for the next few days by a series of disturbances moving out of the Southwest.
The disturbances were forecast to bring showers and thundershowers to the state through Saturday.
Some of the showers may be heavy at times, especially in the Ohio Valley.
Highs will range from the upper 70s in the north to the 80s in the southern and central counties. Nighttime lows readings will continue in the 60s and 70s.
Unsettled weather is expected to continue through the weekend as the disturbances advance into the state. Temperatures will remain seasonal.
Skies were cloudy across Ohio overnight and temperatures early today were mild with readings in the 60s and 70s. A few scattered showers and thundershowers were reported.

2 Arrested At Airport

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati police seized a plane at Lunken airport late Thursday night and took two Dayton, Ohio, men into custody at the request of U.S. Customs agents.
Police did not identify the men.
Both were held overnight for investigation, police said.
Vice Control Sgt. Thomas Fox said customs agents told police the plane had been tracked by radar from a flight from outside the United States. It came in from the south, Fox said.
Fox said the men were seized after they were seen leaving the plane and entering a car.
He said federal law prohibits airplanes coming in from out of the country to land at airports where there are no customs authority.

Sinclair College Offers New Course

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Sinclair Community College will offer a course called "Orientation to Business Ownership" this fall, directed toward students who would like to go into business for themselves.
Al Friedman, the instructor who originated the course, said if it goes well and other courses are added, Sinclair may have an associate degree program in small business ownership available in the fall of 1976.

We're Very Picky Cleaners.

(about big things)

We think doing the big things is a pretty detailed job. We spend time looking for spots and stains. Even the little ones. We remove that deep-down, unseen soil, make colors bright, roll lapels, reshape as we press, and make garments feel like new again. But actually service like this is only to be expected. Because if we didn't maintain the highest standards in the business, we wouldn't get to be a Sanitone drycleaner in the first place. So be picky. Pick the picky ones. Sanitone. Certified Master Drycleaners. You'll find us in the Yellow Pages.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Cindy Cottrill-Brooks McCoy

MRS. BROOKS E. MCCOY

The wedding of Miss Cindy Cottrill and Mr. Brooks E. McCoy was an event of 2:30 p.m., August 2, at Grace United Methodist Church of Washington C.H. The Rev. T. Mack Dove officiated the double ring service following a program of music by Mrs. Gene Hughes, organist and the Misses Lynnette and Jeanette Anderson, vocalists. Included in selections were "We've Only Just Begun," "Cherish" and "I Won't Last A Day Without You."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cottrill, Route 1, New Holland. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCoy, Route 1, Williamsport.

The church was decorated with altar vases filled with varicolored mums, gladioli, daisies and baby's breath with greenery. The family pews were marked with pink, melon, mint green and yellow ribbons and greenery.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in a formal length gown of white organza detailed with French imported chantilly lace. The empire bodice featured a bib of lace, crystals and seed pearls encircled with crystal pleating. The full sheer sleeves were cuffed with crystal pleating and the high ruffled neckline was encircled with pearls.

The A-line skirt fell into a chapel length train trimmed with rows of crystal pleating at the bottom and a second row of pleating dipped to the front from the top of the train. The bride's elbow length veil of illusion was bordered with matching lace and held by an embroidered headpiece encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a cascade arrangement of white miniature carnations, fuji mums, pompons, stephanotis and yellow sweetheart roses accented with baby's breath and ivy, and tied with white picot ribbon.

Matron of honor, Mrs. JoAnn Reisinger, wore a formal length gown of yellow organza. The bodice featured a deep V-yoke outlined in a wide band of sheer lace and an organza ruffle. The hemline of the full skirt was encircled with a wide ruffle and lace which was repeated on the cuffs of the long full sheer sleeves and high wedding ring collar. She wore a yellow ribbon with yellow and green daisies in her hair.

The Miss Brenda Southward and Patty Wilson were bridesmaids, gowned as the honor attendant in mint and apricot respectively. Each attendant carried a bouquet of yellow,

Picnic Celebrates Two Birthdays

Mr. and Mrs. John Pontius, Route 1, hosted a family picnic at their home on Wednesday evening.

Honored guests were their 7 year-old son who was observing his birthday and Joel David Duvall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Duvall, Route 5, whose first birthday occurred on the same day as his cousin Brian's.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pontius, Route 1; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jenkins, Tarlton; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Duvall, Beth and Joel; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Weiler, Bart, Brent and Craig, Route 1, Ashville; Mrs. Jeff Clifton, Route 4, Polly Crist, Route 1, and Randy Young, Circleville.

Wednesday afternoon guests of Brian were Jimmy Little, Craig Conrad, Chris Caudill and Paul Dickey.

CREATIVE MILLINERY—Highlight of the Tuesday evening meeting of Pickaway County Garden Club was modeling of hats decorated especially for the occasion by each member. First place winner in the contest was Mrs. Hal Dickinson, shown in the center, for her straw hat with pink petunias, ivy and a bird nest complete with a redbird. Winning honorable mention were Mrs. Kenneth Hannan, on the left and Mrs. Robert Rickerd.

Pickaway County Garden Club Meets At Shawnee Vineyards

Flower bedecked hats were worn by members of Pickaway County Garden Club to its Tuesday evening meeting at Shawnee Vineyards. Mrs. Lyle Anundson was chairman of the program committee and Mrs. Willson Leist headed the hostess committee.

Mrs. Bernard Savy conducted the business meeting with 34 answering roll call. Guests were Mrs. James Price and Mrs. Edward Heath.

Plans were made for the next meeting to be held 6:30 p.m., Sept. 9, at Pickaway Country Club with husbands or other guests invited. Reservations for the dinner are to be made by Sept. 6 with Mrs. Carson Horton. Clinton Shepard of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources will be the guest speaker. Mrs. Theodore Huston is the program chairman.

"Our Local Heritage" is the theme selected for radio programs during the coming year. Members were urged to assist veterans at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Chillicothe in preparing for their flower show on Sept. 10. A letter of thanks from Miss Dehl Renick for a decoupage sent by the club in appreciation for the recent tour of the gardens at the home of Miss Renick and her brother, Harford Renick, was read.

Mrs. Leist asked members to prepare and save dried material and make plaques to sell at the Pumpkin Show this year.

40th Anniversary To Be Celebrated

The 40th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Christy will be celebrated with an open house Sunday at Civic Community Clubhouse, 25 Civic Drive, Grove City.

Hosting the event will be Mr. and Mrs. John Chamberlain. Mr. and Mrs. Christy will greet friends from 2-5 p.m.

Wedding Planned For September 21

Plans have been completed for the wedding of Miss Sandra Sue Hill, Route 5, Circleville and Ronald Lee Alten, 239 Tallmadge Ave., Lancaster.

The ceremony will take place 3:30 p.m. Sept. 21, at the East Ringgold United Methodist Church. The tradition of open church will be observed.

Scrub zucchini in cold water; cut off the ends and discard. Dry the zucchini and cut into sticks. Dip the sticks into a fritter batter and deep-fat fry. If you have some sesame seeds on hand, you can add some of them to the batter. Serve as an appetizer snack or as a vegetable with a main dish.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Cindy Cottrill-Brooks McCoy

MRS. BROOKS E. MCCOY

The wedding of Miss Cindy Cottrill and Mr. Brooks E. McCoy was an event of 2:30 p.m., August 2, at Grace United Methodist Church of Washington C.H. The Rev. T. Mack Dove officiated the double ring service following a program of music by Mrs. Gene Hughes, organist and the Misses Lynnette and Jeanette Anderson, vocalists. Included in selections were "We've Only Just Begun," "Cherish" and "I Won't Last A Day Without You."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cottrill, Route 1, New Holland. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCoy, Route 1, Williamsport.

The church was decorated with altar vases filled with varicolored mums, gladioli, daisies and baby's breath with greenery. The family pews were marked with pink, melon, mint green and yellow ribbons and greenery.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in a formal length gown of white organza detailed with French imported chantilly lace. The empire bodice featured a bib of lace, crystals and seed pearls encircled with crystal pleating. The full sheer sleeves were cuffed with crystal pleating and the high ruffled neckline was encircled with pearls.

The A-line skirt fell into a chapel length train trimmed with rows of crystal pleating at the bottom and a second row of pleating dipped to the front from the top of the train. The bride's elbow length veil of illusion was bordered with matching lace and held by an embroidered headpiece encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a cascade arrangement of white miniature carnations, fuji mums, pompons, stephanotis and yellow sweetheart roses accented with baby's breath and ivy, and tied with white picot ribbon.

Matron of honor, Mrs. JoAnn Reisinger, wore a formal length gown of yellow organza. The bodice featured a deep V-yoke outlined in a wide band of sheer lace and an organza ruffle. The hemline of the full skirt was encircled with a wide ruffle and lace which was repeated on the cuffs of the long full sheer sleeves and high wedding ring collar. She wore a yellow ribbon with yellow and green daisies in her hair.

The Miss Brenda Southward and Patty Wilson were bridesmaids, gowned as the honor attendant in mint and apricot respectively. Each attendant carried a bouquet of yellow,

Picnic Celebrates Two Birthdays

Mr. and Mrs. John Pontius, Route 1, hosted a family picnic at their home on Wednesday evening.

Honored guests were their 7 year-old son who was observing his birthday and Joel David Duvall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Duvall, Route 5, whose first birthday occurred on the same day as his cousin Brian's.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pontius, Route 1; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jenkins, Tarlton; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Duvall, Beth and Joel; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Weiler, Bart, Brent and Craig, Route 1, Ashville; Mrs. Jeff Clifton, Route 4, Polly Crist, Route 1, and Randy Young, Circleville.

Wednesday afternoon guests of Brian were Jimmy Little, Craig Conrad, Chris Caudill and Paul Dickey.

pink, green and melon colored flowers laced in baby's breath and tied with mixed color ribbons flowing into streamers.

Beth Ann McCoy was flower girl. The little Miss was dressed as the attendants and carried a basket of mixed flowers and streamers.

Master Rex Reisinger was ring bearer.

Mr. Richard Reisinger served as best man and ushers were Mr. Rick Cottrill and Mr. Denis Swartz.

The bride's mother wore a sleeveless floor length gown of melon, ivory and aqua knit with matching accessories and a corsage of white sweetheart roses and miniature aqua carnations.

Mrs. McCoy chose a floor length gown of pink polyester trimmed in white with matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

A reception at the LaFayette Inn of Washington C.H. followed the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a white cloth and adorned with an arrangement of mixed flowers and candles at each end. The three tiered wedding cake was encircled with pink, green, yellow and melon colored flowers and greenery as were the punch bowls. The cake was topped with a bouquet of live mixed flowers matching the color theme of the wedding.

Hostesses were Mrs. Audrey Huston, the bride's aunt, and Miss Kay Schaeffer, her cousin. Miss Linda Dozer presided at the guest book.

As the couple left to an undisclosed destination for a wedding trip, the bride wore a short sleeved knit dress with a melon colored bodice and floral sleeves and skirt. The couple will reside at Route 1, Williamsport.

The bride is a graduate of Miami Trace High School and Ohio University. She is currently employed as an elementary teacher at Monroe School in the Westfall School District.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Williamsport High School, is engaged in farming.

CREATIVE MILINERY—Highlight of the Tuesday evening meeting of Pickaway County Garden Club was modeling of hats decorated especially for the occasion by each member. First place winner in the contest was Mrs. Hal Dickinson, shown in the center, for her straw hat with pink petunias, ivy and a bird nest complete with a redbird. Winning honorable mention were Mrs. Kenneth Hannan, on the left and Mrs. Robert Rickerd.

Pickaway County Garden Club Meets At Shawnee Vineyards

Flower bedecked hats were worn by members of Pickaway County Garden Club to its Tuesday evening meeting at Shawnee Vineyards. Mrs. Lyle Anundson was chairman of the program committee and Mrs. Willison Leist headed the hostess committee.

Mrs. Bernard Savey conducted the business meeting with 34 answering roll call. Guests were Mrs. James Price and Mrs. Edward Heath.

Plans were made for the next meeting to be held 6:30 p.m., Sept. 9, at Pickaway Country Club with husbands or other guests invited. Reservations for the dinner are to be made by Sept. 6 with Mrs. Carson Horton. Clinton Shepard of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources will be the guest speaker. Mrs. Theodore Huston is the program chairman.

"Our Local Heritage" is the theme selected for radio programs during the coming year. Members were urged to assist veterans at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Chillicothe in preparing for their flower show on Sept. 10. A letter of thanks from Miss Dehl Renick for a decoupage sent by the club in appreciation for the recent tour of the gardens at the home of Miss Renick and her brother, Harford Renick, was read.

Xenia Tornado Is Rotary Topic

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Secretary Broke From Treating Boss

DEAR ABBY: Several months ago a new lady boss came to work in the firm where I am secretary.

She began asking me to please get her a cup of coffee or a candy bar. (We have dispensing machines.) She is always in a hurry, rushing to another meeting, and never has her purse with her.

Of course, I oblige. She is so lady-like and has such lovely manners, I thought she would reimburse me, but she never has.

Abby, I like my job and don't want to make a big deal out of it, but over the months her coffee and candy bars have put a hole in my budget.

What would be a tactful way of handling this without appearing cheap, embarrassing my boss or getting stuck for more?

STUCK

DEAR STUCK: It's not "cheap" to ask for what is owed you. But you will have to make a choice between recouping your losses and sparing the lady boss from embarrassment. As for protection against being stuck again: When she asks for something from the machine, ask her for the change because you're "fresh out."

DEAR ABBY: I have an uncle who calls himself "Doctor" because he was given an honorary degree at some little obscure college to which he gave a lot of money after he struck it rich.

He introduces himself as "Doctor." When he makes reservations for trips and even at restaurants he always makes it in the name of "Doctor So and So." Is it legitimate for him to do this? He didn't even graduate from high school.

NO NAMES

DEAR NO: Persons who appropriate the title "Doctor" solely upon the pretense of an honorary degree are reaching for self-esteem and are rather pathetic. But your uncle is harming no one, so let it ride.

DEAR ABBY: I have attended many weddings this summer and am so annoyed by one of the traditions that I have to get this off my chest.

When the bride starts to walk down the aisle, everyone stands up! (I suppose it is to pay tribute to the bride.)

Then everyone (except those who are lucky enough to be sitting next to the aisle) starts to twist and turn and bob around, trying to look at the bride. Usually, all they can see are the backs of others who are also trying to get a look.

From the center seats, there isn't a chance of seeing the flower girl or ring-bearer. This is unfair to everybody.

Will you please ask ministers to request that everyone remain seated when the bride makes her entrance?

Arizona Residents Know Heat's Meaning

GILA BEND, Ariz. (AP) — The rest of the country may complain about heat waves off and on, but people in the Arizona desert know what hot weather really means.

Somewhere in Arizona, almost every day in the summer, the nation's highest temperature will be recorded. And the desert is no place to be unless you know how to cope with the egg-frying temperatures.

The temperature recently hit 120 degrees in this western Arizona town of 2,000 at the edge of the Mohave Desert. Gila Bend has the dubious distinction of often being the hottest spot in the nation.

Big Bull Rooms Interstate 75

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Traffic on Interstate 75 near here was blocked for nearly an hour Thursday night when a 1,100-pound prize Charolais bull that broke loose from the county fairgrounds wandered onto the busy highway.

The animal's owner finally subdued it after two Allen County sheriff's cruisers tried to corral the infuriated bull and it rammed both cars, causing extensive damage to one of them.

ROTARY PROGRAM—Rotarian Dick Plum, far right, presented three men to the Rotary Club Thursday to talk about the Xenia Tornado. Sandy Thompson, standing, introduced the local club to the project of a Rotary Cultural center to be built in Xenia. Dick Loveless and Vince Heider, left and right seated, spoke on the disaster that struck Xenia in April, 1974.

The Xenia tornado which tore up a whole town over a year ago was the topic at the Thursday luncheon meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club. Joining Rotarian Dick Plum in telling the story of Xenia were Dick Loveless and Vince Heider from Xenia and Sandy Thompson from Upper Arlington.

Heider was an actual victim of the disaster. He gave the club members a detailed account of the tornado which caused millions of dollars worth of damages. Fourteen persons lost their lives in the very building occupied at the time by Heider.

He said they had been forewarned of the tornado but most of these people had only time enough to seek cover under desks in their own offices.

Heider said the darkness was so intense that he could not see the person next to him. Winds reached a velocity of over 300 miles per hour and literally took away a person's breath. The speaker also told that hail stones from three to seven inches in diameter rained down on the city.

In summing up his talk on the disaster, he expressed three reactions he experienced: the mercy of God since only 34 lives were lost in the whole thing; the power of God; and the purpose and power of suffering.

Loveless gave a slide presentation of the unbelievable destruction that occurred as a result of the monstrous winds.

Thompson of the Upper Arlington Rotary Club asked fellow Rotarians to support a program that would finance a cultural center in Xenia. The proposed Rotary Cultural Center of Xenia will cost approximately a million dollars. There are 226 clubs in Ohio which have been asked to support the project in the spirit of service to others.

Local Rotarian Karl Hermann reminded the membership present at Thursday's meeting of the visitation of Sgt. Alvin York of World War I fame at the Rotary meeting held in the old Boggs Hotel over 30 years ago. This was while Sgt. York was at the annual camp meeting at Mount of Praise.

The next meeting will be held at the L-K Restaurant and the guest speaker will be Fred Taylor, head basketball coach at the Ohio State University.

GILA BEND, Ariz. (AP) — The rest of the country may complain about heat waves off and on, but people in the Arizona desert know what hot weather really means.

Somewhere in Arizona, almost every day in the summer, the nation's highest temperature will be recorded. And the desert is no place to be unless you know how to cope with the egg-frying temperatures.

The temperature recently hit 120 degrees in this western Arizona town of 2,000 at the edge of the Mohave Desert. Gila Bend has the dubious distinction of often being the hottest spot in the nation.

Big Bull Roams Interstate 75

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Traffic on Interstate 75 near here was blocked for nearly an hour Thursday night when a 1,100-pound prize Charolais bull that broke loose from the county fairgrounds wandered onto the busy highway.

The animal's owner finally subdued it after two Allen County sheriff's cruisers tried to corral the infuriated bull and it rammed both cars, causing extensive damage to one of them.

Enzyme Test Helps Heart Doctors

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — At a recent session of the Oregon Heart Assn., doctors were told of a sophisticated new test that sorts out the particular enzyme in the blood which indicates damage to heart muscles during a heart attack. The test holds dramatic promise of help for persons who have coronaries.

The speaker was Dr. Burton E. Sobel, director of the cardiovascular division of Barnes and Wohl hospitals, St. Louis. He said that although doctors have used an enzyme test for several years to show the difference between enzymes lost by the heart muscle and the same lost from other body muscles, the new method is faster.

"By doing hourly tests," the doctor said, "and feeding information into a computer, we believe we can now predict how big the heart attack is going to be before it is completed."

Bible's Blood Lines Traced By Teacher

NEW YORK (AP) — Is it a timetable? An illustration of some intricate vascular or nervous system? A complex electrical wiring plan? A maze? No, it's a family tree. It traces the long, labyrinthine blood lines of the Bible.

An Oklahoma City artist, real estate dealer and Bible class teacher, puzzled by all those ancestries, "begats" and descendants recited profusely in the Scriptures, has put them all together in one, interstitched genealogical chart.

"It was like putting together some enormous jigsaw puzzle," says Mary Lou Farris. "But the parts fit, once you find where they belong."

The assembled pedigrees, printed on a big, 2-by-3-foot chart in a half-dozen colors, traces human descent through thousands of years of ancient Biblical origins, branches and connections from Adam and Eve to Jesus.

Altogether, the chart contains about 1,100 names, including both minor and major figures in the successive unfolding of the generations.

"The purpose is to enable people to see the whole picture instead of in just bits and pieces," Mrs. Farris said in a telephone interview. "It's to help them understand the Bible. You can't fully follow the action without knowing who the actors are."

Mrs. Farris, 49, who taught art for several years at Penn State University and the University of Florida and whose paintings have been exhibited in several cities, spent two years compiling the Biblical genealogy.

She said a check of a college class once brought out that students were familiar with more characters in the novel, "Gone With the Wind," than in the Bible, probably due partly to the fragmentary way in which the Bible is approached.

"It's usually consulted piecemeal, like an almanac, rather than read as a unitary, interlocking story," she said. For that reason, she added, the many characters, their relationships, and how they are linked into the overall progression of events and human striving tends to get blurred and lost in episodic segments.

But with the help of her "Adam and Eve Family Tree," she said, a person can keep "the various characters in mind and be better able to follow the development of the plot. You can see where each character ties into the general picture and it makes them really come alive."

Challenge Grant Made For New Field House

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — A challenge grant of $250,000 has been made by the Kresge Foundation to Ohio Wesleyan University's new gymnasium and field house, now under construction. The grant is conditioned on the university raising the rest of the $2.9 million needed. The school said it has already raised nearly $2 million.

Seven Local Young People Attend UPC Camp

Seven young people of the United Pentecostal Church of Circleville attended Junior-High Youth Camp Aug. 4-8 at Millersport.

The camp schedules day classes for the youth centered on Bible teaching for teens. Recreation is a part of the days activities with the day closing with an evening service which is opened to the public.

The camp evangelist for the camp was Reverend James Roam of St. Louis, Missouri.

Craig Strome of Route 5, Circleville was chosen as boy camper of the year by the faculty. This honor is based on Christian attributes and leadership qualities.

David James, 300 Mohave Drive, Circleville was chosen as Usher of the Year for the Junior-High camp. He served with 10 other young men in duties for each evening's service.

Attending the youth camp from Circleville church were Kevin and Tim Blankenship, Adam Thomson, Sharon Lewis, Donna Kitchen, Craig Strome and David James.

concert at Campus Church of Christ in Christian Union 9 to 10 a.m. Sunday.

"Good News" under the direction of Gary Dean, will present Otis Skillings' musical "Love" during the 10:30 a.m. Sunday service at Emmett Chapel United Methodist Church, Logan Elm Village.

"Weeds in the Bean Patch" is the sermon topic for the Sunday morning worship service at the First Presbyterian Church.

Paul Elswick will be the guest speaker for the 9 a.m. Sunday service at Calvary United Methodist Church. The sermon topic is "The Precious Promises of God".

Superintendent Guest Speaker At UM Camp

The Rev. Wesley Clarke, superintendent of the Athens District, West Ohio Conference of the United Methodist Church, will be the guest speaker at the 10:30 a.m. Sunday worship service at the Lancaster United Methodist Campgrounds, 2151 W. Fair Ave., Lancaster.

Special music will be provided by Miss Debbie Wright.

At 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Carol Maize and performers from the Calvin United Presbyterian Church in Columbus will present a summer concert of bells, stringed instruments, singers, piano and organ.

GROUND BREAKING—Ceremonies were held in Laurelville Wednesday by the members of the Church of God dedicating the construction of their new church. Taking part in the ceremonies were, from the left, Howard Hartley, the Rev. Lynn Summers,

Lenny Hardman, John Fortner, Willis Johnston, Duane Layman. The new church will be a one floor structure and will cost $150,000. Herbert Sudlow of Logan is the builder. The Laurelville Church of God was founded in 1935.

Bible's Blood Lines Traced By Teacher

NEW YORK (AP) — Is it a timetable? An illustration of some intricate vascular or nervous system? A complex electrical wiring plan? A maze? No, it's a family tree. It traces the long, labyrinthine blood lines of the Bible.

An Oklahoma City artist, real estate dealer and Bible class teacher, puzzled

by all those ancestries, "begats" and descendants recited profusely in the Scriptures, has put them all together in one, interstitched genealogical chart.

"It was like putting together some enormous jigsaw puzzle," says Mary Lou Farris. "But the parts fit, once you find where they belong."

The assembled pedigrees, printed on a big, 2-by-3-foot chart in a half-dozen colors, traces human descent through thousands of years of ancient Biblical origins, branches and connections from Adam and Eve to Jesus.

Altogether, the chart contains about 1,100 names, including both minor and major figures in the successive unfolding of the generations.

GROUNDBREAKING—Ceremonies were held in Laurelville Wednesday by the members of the Church of God dedicating the construction of their new church. Taking part in the ceremonies were, from the left, Howard Hartley, the Rev. Lynn Summers,

Lenny Hardman, John Fortner, Willis Johnston, Duane Layman. The new church will be a one floor structure and will cost $150,000. Herbert Sudlow of Logan is the builder. The Laurelville Church of God was founded in 1935.

"The purpose is to enable people to see the whole picture instead of in just bits and pieces," Mrs. Farris said in a telephone interview. "It's to help them understand the Bible. You can't fully follow the action without knowing who the actors are."

Mrs. Farris, 49, who taught art for several years at Penn State University and the University of Florida and whose paintings have been exhibited in several cities, spent two years compiling the Biblical genealogy.

She said a check of a college class once brought out that students were familiar with more characters in the novel, "Gone With the Wind," than in the Bible, probably due partly to the fragmentary way in which the Bible is approached.

"It's usually consulted piecemeal, like an almanac, rather than read as a unitary, interlocking story," she said.

For that reason, she added, the many characters, their relationships, and how they are linked into the overall progression of events and human striving tends to get blurred and lost in episodic segments.

But with the help of her "Adam and Eve Family Tree," she said, a person can keep "the various characters in mind and be better able to follow the development of the plot. You can see where each character ties into the general picture and it makes them really come alive."

Challenge Grant Made For New Field House

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — A challenge grant of $250,000 has been made by the Kresge Foundation to Ohio Wesleyan University's new gymnasium and field house, now under construction. The grant is conditioned on the university raising the rest of the $2.9 million needed. The school said it has already raised nearly $2 million.

Church Briefs

Dr. Amos Henry will be the guest speaker at Good Shepherd United Methodist Church Sunday. The topic of his sermon will be: "What Is Man."

"The Power Struggle" will be the sermon theme Sunday at Trinity Lutheran Church. At 7:30 p.m. Wednesday the Sunday School board will meet in the church parlor.

Seven Local Young People Attend UPC Camp

Seven young people of the United Pentecostal Church of Circleville attended Junior-High Youth Camp Aug. 4-8 at Millersport.

The camp schedules day classes for the youth centered on Bible teaching for teens. Recreation is a part of the days activities with the day closing with an evening service which is opened to the public.

The camp evangelist for the camp was Reverend James Roam of St. Louis, Missouri.

Craig Strome of Route 5, Circleville was chosen as boy camper of the year by the faculty. This honor is based on Christian attributes and leadership qualities.

David James, 300 Mohave Drive, Circleville was chosen as Usher of the Year for the Junior-High camp. He served with 10 other young men in duties for each evening's service.

Attending the youth camp from Circleville church were Kevin and Tim Blankenship, Adam Thomson, Sharon Lewis, Donna Kitchen, Craig Strome and David James.

concert at Campus Church of Christ in Christian Union 9 to 10 a.m. Sunday.

"Good News" under the direction of Gary Dean, will present Otis Skillings' musical "Love" during the 10:30 a.m. Sunday service at Emmett Chapel United Methodist Church, Logan Elm Village.

"Weeds in the Bean Patch" is the sermon topic for the Sunday morning worship service at the First Presbyterian Church.

Paul Elswick will be the guest speaker for the 9 a.m. Sunday service at Calvary United Methodist Church. The sermon topic is "The Precious Promises of God".

Superintendent Guest Speaker At UM Camp

The Rev. Wesley Clarke, superintendent of the Athens District, West Ohio Conference of the United Methodist Church, will be the guest speaker at the 10:30 a.m. Sunday worship service at the Lancaster United Methodist Campgrounds, 2151 W. Fair Ave., Lancaster.

Special music will be provided by Miss Debbie Wright.

At 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Carol Maize and performers from the Calvin United Presbyterian Church in Columbus will present a summer concert of bells, stringed instruments, singers, piano and organ.

Lutheran Split Still Possible

CHICAGO (AP) — A split within the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod would be "like a child running away from home," says a district president. But he adds in an apparent warning, "There are times when you are driven out."

Paul Jacobs, district president of the California and Nevada area, made the comments Wednesday at a meeting of Evangelical Lutherans in Mission (ELIM), a moderate group formed two years ago to protest what it called repressive elements of synod leadership.

Jacobs joined seven other district presidents at a news conference in rejecting a split "at this point."

Instead, they said they might endorse a "parallel fellowship" within the synod if conservative resolutions passed at the church's Anaheim, Calif., convention last month were carried out.

The church has been threatened with division between conservatives, who insist on a literal interpretation of the Bible, and a moderate faction.

Earlier in the day, Jacobs read a two-page statement to the assembly that indicated support for a split in the synod that moderates say could involve more than one-fourth of its three million members.

The statement read in part, "We face sadly but confidently the situation in the synod which inevitably must force thousands of our people to choose between capitulation to ecclesiastical tyranny, utter chaos, or a return to the scriptural and confessional way of defining fellowship."

It also stressed the need to develop "alternative forms of fellowship consistent with our Lutheran principles ... if these objectives cannot be achieved within the fellowship of synod."

Jacobs said that leaving the problems of the synod behind would be "like a child who is running away from home. It's fine for the first two days, but what about the third day?"

"But there are times when you are driven out, and that is a different story. Our friend Martin Luther could have told you the same thing — he didn't leave; he was driven out."

The statement, in response to resolutions approved at Anaheim which labeled ELIM activities as "divisive" and "schismatic," received lengthy applause from the assembly.

ELIM officials predicted that in the event of a split they could attract 1,500 congregations with 800,000 members.

The Missouri Synod claims 6,000 congregations with 3 million members. ELIM claims 60,000 members in 612 churches.

Memorial Airport News

Hello dere! Well, it's Friday again and what else can you say about that. Things have been sort of dull around here this week. We did however have two new students solo. The first was Harry Payne Sr. and the second Stan Burmaster.

Your local aviation association met again Wednesday at the airport and elected their first bona-fide, brass-plated, died-in-the-wool-for-real officers. Elected president was Charles Fletcher, our answer to Burt Reynolds. Drafted into mis-service as president of vice was Dave Valentine and he's our question to Burt Reynolds! Now, if that isn't a crew. Just like Jesse and James, Bonnie and Clyde, Pete and Repeat, we've got Fletch and Tedch. Charley stated he liked to fly by the seat of his pants and Dave said that was a pretty broad subject.

The next meeting of the Pickaway Flyers will be Aug. 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the airport. If you want to have some fun and meet some nice people, come on out. Also be sure and be here at the airport Aug. 24 for the Pickaway Flyers annual corn roast and fly-in. Its open to the public and admission is free and even the parking is free, Charley.

Want to hear about our phone booth? Me Too.

Dayton Area Has Tremors

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Seismographs in Bloomington, Ind., and Bowling Green, Ohio, indicate a small earthquake may have caused faint tremors in the Dayton area in the past few days.

Experts said the evidence is far from conclusive, but the seismographs detected the small disturbances, two on Monday and another Tuesday, at identical times.

It was difficult to pinpoint the disturbances because of their low intensity, said Dr. Robert E. Blakely, professor of geology at Indiana University in Bloomington.

The Bowling Green seismograph, however, pointed to southwestern Ohio.

The Cleveland substation of the National Earthquake Information Service didn't record anything, indicating the tremors were no larger than a one or a two on the Richter scale.

Blakely said Ohio was not an active state for shifts in the earth except for the town of Anna, 40 miles north of Dayton, which has had 20 major tremors since its settlement, several which reached a Richter measurement of seven.

Blakely said the University of Michigan is seeking federal funds to install equipment in the Shelby County community to see what causes the unusual activity.

Charles Pike Named Columbiana Judge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes Thursday appointed Charles A. Pike, 60, of Lisbon, judge of the Columbiana County Court succeeding James L. MacDonald, who resigned. Pike is former Columbiana County prosecuting attorney.

Rhodes named Patricia J. Moss of Sugargrove to the State Residential Facilities Citizens Advisory Council.

Cleveland Woman $300,000 Winner

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Dorothy Wilce's planned trip to Las Vegas looks all the more enjoyable now that she's won the top prize of $300,000 in the Ohio Lottery's Buckeye 300 drawing Thursday night.

But Mrs. Wilce of Cleveland said she won't lose her head in Las Vegas. "I'm a little tight fisted," she said.

She said she bought the ticket at a church bingo game which she attends weekly. Mrs. Wilce, the mother of five and grandmother of seven, is a seamstress at the Fisher Body plant here.

The $300,000 winner was Dan Trent of Cincinnati. The four $15,000 winners were Harold E. Zimmerman of Sunman, Ind.; Richard Routt of Chillicothe; Stella B. Manuel of Marietta and Gerda G. Sax of Akron.

The winning single number this week was 000, the double, 039 025. In the Lucky Buck game, the three digit number was 555 and the six digit number was 648642.

The week's drawing marked the first anniversary of the lottery. Lottery spokesmen said they sold over $108 million in tickets this year of which about $43 million will go to the Ohio general fund.

Also, beginning, Oct. 23 the lottery

will start a new game, the Buckeye 1,000 to replace the Buckeye 300. A lottery spokesman said the new 50-cent game was offered to meet public demand for a greater number of prizes.

The game details, which are subject to a public hearing Sept. 18, increase the prize list to 6,226 per million tickets, compared with the 5,020 prizes per million in the Buckeye 300 game.

Woman Dies At Age 111

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Mabel Isola Hyde, who loved to listen to San Francisco Giants baseball games in her later years, has died here at the age of 111.

Friends say a highlight of Mrs. Hyde's life came on her 108th birthday when she received an autographed photo of Willie Mays, her idol with the Giants.

Mrs. Hyde, born in Gallipolis, Ohio, traveled with her husband and three sons by covered wagon as a young woman to help open the Oklahoma Territory. The family moved to the San Joaquin Valley 66 years ago, first settling at Bass Lake in Madera County before moving here.

A funeral service is scheduled Saturday.

Lutheran Split Still Possible

CHICAGO (AP) — A split within the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod would be "like a child running away from home," says a district president. But he adds in an apparent warning, "There are times when you are driven out."

Paul Jacobs, district president of the California and Nevada area, made the comments Wednesday at a meeting of Evangelical Lutherans in Mission (ELIM), a moderate group formed two years ago to protest what it called repressive elements of synod leadership.

Jacobs joined seven other district presidents at a news conference in rejecting a split "at this point."

Instead, they said they might endorse a "parallel fellowship" within the synod if conservative resolutions passed at the church's Anaheim, Calif., convention last month were carried out.

The church has been threatened with division between conservatives, who insist on a literal interpretation of the Bible, and a moderate faction.

Earlier in the day, Jacobs read a two-page statement to the assembly that indicated support for a split in the synod that moderates say could involve more than one-fourth of its three million members.

The statement read in part, "We face sadly but confidently the situation in the synod which inevitably must force thousands of our people to choose between capitulation to ecclesiastical tyranny, utter chaos, or a return to the scriptural and confessional way of defining fellowship."

It also stressed the need to develop "alternative forms of fellowship consistent with our Lutheran principles ... if these objectives cannot be achieved within the fellowship of synod."

Jacobs said that leaving the problems of the synod behind would be "like a child who is running away from home. It's fine for the first two days, but what about the third day?"

"But there are times when you are driven out, and that is a different story. Our friend Martin Luther could have told you the same thing — he didn't leave; he was driven out."

The statement, in response to resolutions approved at Anaheim which labeled ELIM activities as "divisive" and "schismatic," received lengthy applause from the assembly.

ELIM officials predicted that in the event of a split they could attract 1,500 congregations with 800,000 members.

The Missouri Synod claims 6,000 congregations with 3 million members. ELIM claims 60,000 members in 612 churches.

Memorial Airport News

Hello dere! Well, it's Friday again and what else can you say about that. Things have been sort of dull around here this week. We did however have two new students solo. The first was Harry Payne Sr. and the second Stan Burmaster.

Your local aviation association met again Wednesday at the airport and elected their first bona-fide, brass-plated, died-in-the-wool-for-real officers. Elected president was Charles Fletcher, our answer to Burt Reynolds. Drafted into mis-service as president of vice was Dave Valentine and he's our question to Burt Reynolds! Now, if that isn't a crew. Just like Jesse and James, Bonnie and Clyde, Pete and Repeat, we've got Fletch and Teched. Charley stated he liked to fly by the seat of his pants and Dave said that was a pretty broad subject.

The next meeting of the Pickaway Flyers will be Aug. 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the airport. If you want to have some fun and meet some nice people, come on out. Also be sure and be here at the airport Aug. 24 for the Pickaway Flyers annual corn roast and fly-in. Its open to the public and admission is free and even the parking is free, Charley.

Dayton Area Has Tremors

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Seismographs in Bloomington, Ind., and Bowling Green, Ohio, indicate a small earthquake may have caused faint tremors in the Dayton area in the past few days.

Experts said the evidence is far from conclusive, but the seismographs detected the small disturbances, two on Monday and another Tuesday, at identical times.

It was difficult to pinpoint the disturbances because of their low intensity, said Dr. Robert E. Blakely, professor of geology at Indiana University in Bloomington.

The Bowling Green seismograph, however, pointed to southwestern Ohio.

The Cleveland substation of the National Earthquake Information Service didn't record anything, indicating the tremors were no larger than a one or two on the Richter scale.

Blakely said Ohio was not an active state for shifts in the earth except for the town of Anna, 40 miles north of Dayton, which has had 20 major tremors since its settlement, several which reached a Richter measurement of seven.

Blakely said the University of Michigan is seeking federal funds to install equipment in the Shelby County community to see what causes the unusual activity.

Charles Pike Named Columbiana Judge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes Thursday appointed Charles A. Pike, 60, of Lisbon, judge of the Columbiana County Court succeeding James L. MacDonald, who resigned. Pike is former Columbiana County prosecuting attorney.

Rhodes named Patricia J. Moss of Sugargrove to the State Residential Facilities Citizens Advisory Council.

Cleveland Woman $300,000 Winner

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Dorothy Wilce's planned trip to Las Vegas looks all the more enjoyable now that she's won the top prize of $300,000 in the Ohio Lottery's Buckeye 300 drawing Thursday night.

But Mrs. Wilce of Cleveland said she won't lose her head in Las Vegas. "I'm a little tight fisted," she said.

She said she bought the ticket at a church bingo game which she attends weekly. Mrs. Wilce, the mother of five and grandmother of seven, is a seamstress at the Fisher Body plant here.

The $300,000 winner was Dan Trent of Cincinnati. The four $15,000 winners were Harold E. Zimmerman of Sunman, Ind.; Richard Rouff of Chillicothe; Stella B. Manuel of Marietta and Gerda G. Sax of Akron.

The winning single number this week was 000, the double, 039 025. In the Lucky Buck game, the three digit number was 555 and the six digit number was 648642.

The week's drawing marked the first anniversary of the lottery. Lottery spokesmen said they sold over $108 million in tickets this year of which about $43 million will go to the Ohio general fund.

Also, beginning, Oct. 23 the lottery

will start a new game, the Buckeye 1,000 to replace the Buckeye 300. A lottery spokesman said the new 50-cent game was offered to meet public demand for a greater number of prizes.

The game details, which are subject to a public hearing Sept. 18, increase the prize list to 6,226 per million tickets, compared with the 5,020 prizes per million in the Buckeye 300 game.

On Books And Activities At The Library

If you still believe that libraries are strictly for children or leisure reading in fiction, you owe yourself a trip to the Pickaway County District Public Library and a visit to the non-fiction collection. There aren't many problems we can't help you solve with a book. If we don't have the book, we'll try to get it for you through our interlibrary loan system.

Our woodworking collection has been updated. New titles include: "The Complete Book Of Woodwork" by Charles Hayward; "Projects In Wood Furniture" by Douglas and Roberts; "Constructing and Manufacturing Wood Products" by Wayne Zook.

Plumbers and machinists will be interested in Audel's "Plumbers And Pipe Fitters Library" and "Machine Fundamentals" by John Walker.

If you're thinking about making nature's energy sources work for you, take a look at "Producing Your Own Power" edited by Carol Stoner.

The reproduction of sound has become a popular hobby. Two new titles offer some of the latest information in this area. "Tape Recorders: How They Work" by Wescott and Dubbe explains the basic principles of tape recorders to help you use them more efficiently. "Modern Recording Techniques" by Runstein offers some modern technology for both the novice and the engineer in recording pop music.

The world of rocks and minerals is a fascinating and beautiful one. For some moments of sheer beauty, browse through "Rocks And Minerals" by Paul Desanteis. It's from the Collector's Series.

Three new books dealing with food are being added this week. "Freezing And Canning Cookbook" from the food editors of the Farm Journal is just in time to help with preserving all the good things you've grown in your garden this summer. An extraordinary cookbook is "Pearl's Kitchen" by Pearl Bailey. It's an adventure in reading as well as cooking. Recipes of a different nature are a part of "Coping With Food Allergy" by Dr. Claude Frazier. Valuable information on other aspects of food allergy is also included.

Investing is an important facet of modern living. "Dance Of The Money Bees" by John Train is advice from a professional investment advisor. "The Great American Insurance Hoax" by Guarino and Trubo is slanted toward helping you protect yourself against insurance fraud.

It's a fact that the metric system is upon us. "Metric Power" by Richard Deming tells why and how we are going metric.

The desire to look beautiful is ages old. "The Art Of Being Beautiful At Any Age" by Dr. Bedford Sheldine, Jr. tells how to achieve that desire.

If there is a favorite feline in the family, be sure to look at "The Well Cat Book" by Terri McGinnis, DVM.

In the area of literature, "Revolution Of The Word" edited by Jerome Rothenberg is a new gathering of American avant garde poetry from 1914-1945. "The Paul Laurence Dunbar Reader" edited by Martin and Hudson is a collection of the best poetry and prose of the famous black writer.

Isaac Asimov is noted for his ability to impart information in a highly readable form. His new book, "Our Federal Union", covers the U.S. from 1816-1865. It's filled with the fascinating personalities and events of that Civil War period.

"The Southern Appalachians" by Charlton Ogburn is a complete book on the East's most spectacular mountain range.

Followers of Edgar Cayce will find "There Will Your Heart Be Also" by William and Gladys McGarey a guide to home life. It incorporates many of Cayce's readings about home and marriage with the experiences of the authors.

An explosive report on American education is titled "Burn The Schools-Save The Children" by David Melton. It attacks many of the traditional concepts of today's institutions of learning.

Lengthy investigative reporting has resulted in "Murder By Contract" by Arthur H. Lewis. It's the story of the Yablonski murders and the man behind the killings, UMW President Tony Boyle.

Among the new fiction is a novel about reincarnation, "Child Of The Night" by Anne Edwards. "Trumpets Sound No More" by F. van Wyck Mason is a new American historical fiction.

August ain't a lot of things. Check our bulletin board for further details!

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford says the presidential family believes "marriage is probably the greatest thing in the world."

Although she has no regrets about her remarks on pre-marital sex, made in a recent television interview, Mrs. Ford said her remarks may have been "a little distorted" in news reports and perhaps misunderstood.

"I think I was honest," she said of the interview in talking with reporters after a lunch with friends at a Vail restaurant Wednesday.

Mrs. Ford's appearance last Sunday on the CBS television show "60 Minutes" drew considerable reaction, much of it critical of her.

She had been asked about the practice of young people living together before they are married and how she would react if her 18-year-old daughter, Susan, came to her and said "Mother, I'm having an affair."

"Well, I wouldn't be surprised. I think she's a perfectly normal human being like all young girls and I would certainly counsel and advise her on the subject ...," Mrs. Ford replied.

What Mrs. Ford meant, her press secretary Sheila Weidenfeld explained Wednesday, was that "parents and children should be able to talk things out." She added that Mrs. Ford "hopes she wasn't misunderstood. She strongly believes in the family and marriage, she's all for it."

When reporters brought up the subject, Mrs. Ford expressed the same reaction.

Asked how she felt about the whole matter, the President's wife said, "Fine. I think it's coming out very well, certainly as far as the family is concerned ... After all, basically our family is brought up in the fact that marriage is probably the greatest thing in the world."

She had one afterthought, though, delivered with a smile:

"I could have answered with perhaps a little better judgment — been more specific."

The comments were still coming into the White House in reaction to the television interview. Mrs. Weidenfeld said sentiment in about 500 telegrams and telephone calls was about even, pro and con.

Miss McCann Awarded OSSC Scholarship

PAMELA MCCANN

Pam McCann of Route 1, Stoutsville, has recently been awarded a $400 scholarship to attend the Ohio State School of Cosmetology in Columbus beginning Sept. 15.

The training is a 10-month course including haircutting, styling, color etc. pursuant to examination and licensing by the State Board of Cosmetology and includes certified Redken Scientific Training.

Miss McCann is a 1975 graduate of Amanda-Clearcreek High School.

Veterans Questions Answered

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week the Circleville Herald will publish a series of Questions and Answers of interest to veterans. These questions and answers are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer in the basement of the Pickaway County Court House.

(Q) At one time the question was asked about GI Bill covering tuition and tuition and fees for flight training. The answer was yes. But, does this mean also for initial instructions in flying to a military man who is absolutely a beginner?

(A) An eligible veteran or serviceman must first possess a valid private pilot's license and meet the necessary medical requirements in order to use his GI Bill eligibility for flight training. Secondly, the flight training course must be generally accepted as necessary to attain a recognized vocational objective in the field of aviation or recognized as ancillary to the pursuit of another vocation.

(Q) I have just received my federal income tax rebate. That sum brings my annual income up to the next level, which means a lessening of my VA Pension. When do I have to report it to the VA?

(A) You don't have to. The tax rebate authorized by Public Law 12, 94th Congress, does not constitute income for VA purposes under any circumstances.

(Q) How much is the advance payment of GI Bill allowance a veteran gets when he enrolls in school?

(A) The advance payment will be the allowance payable for the initial month or fraction thereof in which the term will begin, plus the allowance for the succeeding month.

(Q) What are the dates of war service to qualify for VA non service connected pension as a Viet Nam veteran.

(A) August 5, 1964 through May 7, 1975.

(Q) I read that Congress cut out the GI Bill loan guaranty to buy a farm. What if a veteran wants to buy just a farm home or remodel one he already owns?

(A) The GI Bill loan guaranty may still be used to buy a farm home, or to repair, alter or improve a farm home. A veteran may no longer get a GI Bill loan to buy farm equipment, seed, etc.

Dr. John Harris opened the first dental college in the nation in a small frame building at Bainbridge, Ohio, near Chillicothe, in 1827.

Y Pre-School Classes Set

Plans have been made for the YMCA Pre-School Program to begin the week of Sept. 15, according to Marilyn Scranton, Y pre-school director.

The fall quarter will consist of the first session, Sept. 15 to Oct. 10; second session, Oct. 20 to Nov. 14; third session, Nov. 17 to Dec. 12. A make-up week for any missed classes will be the week of Dec. 15 to 19.

The pre-school class for children who will be four years old by Sept. 30, will be held Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning from 9:30-11:00 a.m. The class will be taught by Marilyn Scranton and Ethel Maze. Children will be exposed to a basic pre-kindergarten program.

According to Mrs. Scranton, children who are enrolled in Kindergarten are invited to participate in the Y pre-school program.

A new addition to the pre-school program will be a new class for children who will be four years old from Oct. 1, 1975 to March 31, 1976.

The class, "Y Rascals", will meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 12:30-1:30 p.m. Any child who cannot attend a morning class may enroll in this class regardless of age. Diana Jones will be the teacher.

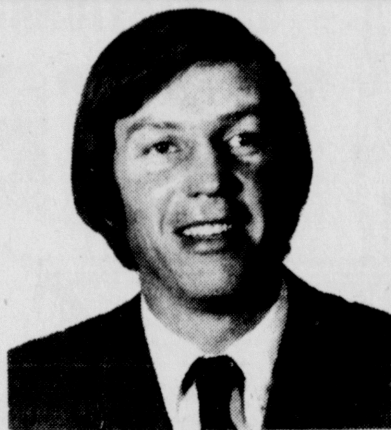

"Y Tots", under the instruction of Diana Jones will begin Sept. 16. The class will meet Tuesday and Thursdays from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. Children must be three years old by Sept. 30. Birthdates for Y Tots will be April 1, 1972-Sept. 30, 1972.

Much preparation has been made for this year's pre-school program which includes crafts, physical education, school related activities and field trips.

Open house and registration will be Sept. 4 from 10 to Noon at the YMCA, E. Franklin St.

In addition to the above pre-school classes, the YMCA fall informal education classes will also begin the week of Sept. 15.

Bryon White, one-time football star and later deputy attorney general, was named an associate justice of the Supreme Court by President John Kennedy on March 30, 1962, to take the place of retiring Justice Evans Whitaker of Missouri.

With football season rapidly approaching, along with cross country and golf also being fall sports, the young athletes are now hard at work getting into shape in preparation for their various events.

This means a lot of activity in extreme heat and humidity that can take its toll in heat stroke and exhaustion.

We feel that most coaches are well up on these problems and have the knowledge to prevent most of the things that can be caused by the heat and humidity.

But these conditions also apply to band members, persons who jog and youngsters playing little football or other sports in the hot, humid weather.

Some of these youngsters have no direct supervision so it is imperative that the parents keep an eye on them and become familiar with some of the preventive measures used by the coaches and team doctors.

Dr. Robert J. Murphy, who serves as head physician for the Ohio State University football team, has recommended a list of preventive measures to be used.

We heartily recommend that everyone take a good look at them and put them into practice — especially parents of the younger athletes who are not members of a regular team.

Here are Dr. Murphy's recommendations:

Conditioning and Acclimatization to Heat — It is essential that conditioning start at about 30 minutes a day and gradually increase to the 1½-2 hour practice sessions in mid-August.

Early conditioning should be conducted in shorts. When the full uniform is used, it should be loose fitting and lightweight or one of the fish net materials for maximum ventilation.

The use of rubber sweat suits or, in fact, any kind of sweat suit is to be vigorously condemned. Placing any covering over the skin prevents air from flowing across the skin, thereby robbing the human body of the only way it has to cool itself.

Evaluate Environmental Conditions — The old adage "It is not the heat, it's the humidity" is certainly applicable to early season conditioning programs and practice sessions. Several deaths have occurred when the temperature was under 70 degrees, but the humidity was over 90 per cent. The only effective way for the body to dissipate the heat generated by muscular exercise is by the process of evaporative cooling (air blowing across a sweating skin surface). Thus the more moisture in the environment (humidity), the more difficult for the body to cool itself.

It is absolutely essential for each coach, trainer or band supervisor to know exactly both the temperature and the humidity. There is no room for guesswork. An inexpensive and convenient way to measure the environmental conditions on the field is by the use of a sling psychrometer, a unit that costs about $20 and measures dry bulb temperature and wet bulb temperature. By using these two readings, the relative humidity can be computed. The use of the wet bulb reading alone is a reasonably accurate measure of the environmental conditions. Anytime the humidity is over 90 per cent, practice plans should be altered or postponed.

Identify Susceptible Individuals — Almost all heat stroke deaths in football have occurred in interior linemen (centers, guards, tackles). They usually are stocky with a large muscle mass that generates heat. Accurate weights should be taken before and after each workout. Those players losing over three per cent of their body weight should be particularly observed (i.e., 6-pound loss in a 200-pound athlete).

Provide Water and Fluids on the Field — "During the past ten years there has been a tremendous change in approach to this subject", said Dr. Murphy. "From a position of rarely permitting water on the field, we are now providing the OSU football team unlimited ice water at all times through practice and games. We provide ample electrolyte replacement solution at break time and after practice."

Most colleges, high schools, junior high schools and Little Leagues are now providing unlimited fluid replacement, but a few still may be following the absolute regimen that most of their coaches had learned.

Again, the most important replacement item is WATER!!!! Salt and other substances are very secondary.

Heat Stroke — Is a true, life threatening medical emergency! Those individuals will lapse into unconsciousness, have a dry and very hot skin, with a rising temperature and they do NOT SWEAT!!!! Those players should have their clothing removed and an ambulance called. During the wait for medical assistance, any means of cooling the body should be instituted immediately. This can include application of cold cloths, cold compresses to head, fanning with towels, or rubbing the extremities and trunk with ice. The purpose of emergency first aid procedures is to lower the body temperature. Minutes are precious in preventing death. A temperature of 106 degrees or higher will cause irreversible changes in the body cells. In a true heat stroke such temperatures are reached rapidly.

Our "fearless" forecast — Austin Straub could do the job and lead the mob in the Greater Hartford Open.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

Reds Throttle Pirates, 6-1

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Sparky Anderson says you still have to treat the Pittsburgh Pirates with respect ... but what George Foster and Gary Nolan did to them was downright impudent.

Foster slugged his 20th and 21st homers of the season Thursday night to drive in five runs and Gary Nolan muffed the Pirates' bats on just four hits in eight innings as Anderson's Cincinnati Reds cruised to a 6-1 victory.

In the rest of the National League, Atlanta beat St. Louis 6-4, San Francisco bombed Montreal 9-2 and Chicago squeezed past Houston 5-3.

"Maybe Pittsburgh is in a slump, but we have to treat them like the good hitting club they are," Anderson said after Cincinnati handed the Pirates their third straight loss and the eighth in their last nine games.

The result shaved the Reds' East Division lead over idle Philadelphia to 2½ games and widened the Reds' margin over Los Angeles to 15½ games in the West.

"I'm just attacking the ball," Foster understated. He followed singles by Ken Griffey and Tony Perez in the fourth inning by powering a three-run homer off Jerry Reuss. And after Perez singled in the sixth, Foster teed off on another Reuss pitch.

A Joe Morgan single off reliever Kent Tekulve gave the Reds their final run in the eighth.

Nolan had some pretty good power himself for a while. He retired the first 15 Pirates he faced before Manny Sanguillen broke up his perfect game and no-hitter with a leadoff single in the sixth inning, then ruined Nolan's shutout with a homer in the eighth. Will McEnaney took over in the ninth and got the final three outs with no trouble.

Braves 6, Cards 4

Dave May's three-run homer in the first inning and Vic Correll's solo blast in the fourth boosted Atlanta past St.

Louis. The loss left the third-place Cards 4½ games back of the Pirates and two behind the runner-up Phils.

Giants 9, Expos 2

Dave Rader hit a three-run homer in the second inning and pitcher Jim Barr lashed a two-run double to highlight a four-run fourth in the Giants' rout of Montreal.

Cubs 5, Astros 3

The Cubs literally squeezed their victory out of Houston, Rob Sperring and Steve Swisher dumping successive runscoring bunts in the fourth inning.

With the score tied 2-2 and runners on second and third, Sperring bunted back to the mound. J.R. Richard fielded the ball but his throw to home was too late. Swisher followed with a bunt between the mound and first base for a hit that scored what proved to be the winning run.

Bengals And Bills To Collide Tonight

BUFFALO (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals and the Buffalo Bills, both non-winners in preseason games, clash tonight in another National Football League exhibition contest.

For Buffalo fans, it will be their first chance for an in-person look at the team Coach Lou Saban has assembled. A week ago, via television, the fans saw the Bills lose to the Packers, 23-6, at Green Bay.

It was Buffalo's offense that collapsed last Saturday night and it upset Saban greatly. He is vowing it won't happen again and said he would work the first offensive unit more than he normally does in the exhibition tilts.

In all, the Bills picked up only 37 yards rushing, with 18 collected by O.J. Simpson. Through the air, however, Buffalo struck for 284 yards as quarterbacks Joe Ferguson and Gary Marangi threw a total of 58 passes and completed 29.

The Bengals, beaten 17-9 by Washington and 7-3 by Miami, will start Ken Anderson at quarterback, even though he wasn't sharp against the Redskins and Dolphins.

A year ago, Anderson had a 64.9 per cent completion mark and gained 2,667 yards through the air.

The Bills will take the field minus All-Pro safety Tony Greene, who suffered a fractured collarbone in the Packers' game, and wide receiver J.D. Hill, out with a bruised thigh. Neal Craig will stand in for Greene, with rookie Glenn Lott taking over Craig's defensive spot. Bob Chandler will fill in for Hill.

Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown said he was concerned with the failure of his team to score.

"We have to start putting some points on the board," he said. "We're not making the most of our scoring opportunities."

The same concern could be expressed by Saban. Placekicker John Leyboldt blew two field goal attempts and an extrapoint try against the Packers and the Bills could not score from two yards out late in the game.

CABC Holds 1st Meeting

The Circleville Athletic Booster Club held its first meeting of the season Wednesday in the high school cafeteria.

Circleville's athletic director and head football coach Larry Cook gave an informative talk on the coming grid season.

Marc Lackey, Booster Club president, explained the aims of the club and mentioned some of the money making projects that are under consideration.

Vice President Paul Howley reported on the membership drive for the Tiger Paws and Tiger Club. He also announced that plans are being finalized for the first annual Circleville Invitational Boxing Show to be held 7:30 p.m. Sept. 13 in the high school gym. Tickets may be obtained from any Booster Club member or by calling Paul Howley, 474-2371.

Bill Camp reported that ads for the program are coming along nicely and Aug. 22 is the deadline for Tiger Paw and Tiger Club.

The next meeting will be 8 p.m. Wednesday at the high school.

White Sox Stop Tribe; Win Tilt 6-4

CHICAGO (AP) — Both Indians Manager Frank Robinson and White Sox pitcher Jim Kaat say Kaat had to struggle to chalk up his 17th win of the season, a 6-4 victory over Cleveland Thursday night.

"We hit Kaat pretty good tonight, but we didn't do it early enough," said Robinson.

Kaat retired the first eight batters he faced, but began struggling in the fourth when he allowed Cleveland its first run on doubles by George Hendricks and Rico Carty. Hamilton replaced Kaat in the eighth with one out to pick up his fourth save of the year.

"They hit me pretty well all throughout the night," said Kaat, 17-9, who gave up solo homers to John Ellis in the fifth and Carty in the sixth.

"Some good defensive plays by Bill Stein, Jerry Hairston and Pat Kelly saved the game. Dave Hamilton did a good job in relief, too," said Kaat, who allowed 10 hits. "But that's what it takes to win ball games."

The same defensive trio also provided the offensive punch for the White Sox. Stein hit his third home run of the year in the eighth inning. Hairston drove in Chicago's first score in a three-run second inning when he singled home Ken Henderson, who had walked and moved to second on an infield out.

Roomies Await Cut By Bengals

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Quarterbacks Tom Shuman and Gary Scheide have a lot in common: they share a room, the uncertain status of a rookie and ambitions for the same spot with the Cincinnati Bengals.

"We've become pretty good friends," said Scheide, a thirdround draft choice from Brigham Young. "But one of us has got to go."

Shuman, the Penn State graduate picked in the eighth round, agreed. "On the field it's all football, but we leave it there. We get along really well," he said.

The pair first moved in together when they came to Cincinnati several months ago for a head start in learning the Bengals' system. They sometimes spend nights at Wilmington College training camp here quizzing each other on the thick team playbook as they shoot for the No. 3 slot behind veterans Ken Anderson and John Reaves.

"We'll stay with them until such time as we can make a decision," said Coach Paul Brown. "We know that Scheide played with a team that threw the ball a lot and he threw well. Shuman didn't get to throw that much, but he's got a strong arm."

Scheide's first opportunity should come tonight, when he is slated to play most of the second half against Buffalo. Shuman's turn comes next week.

YMCA Tennis CHS Names Concludes

The YMCA tennis tournament concluded with the finals being played at the Circleville High School courts.

Here are the results of the finals: Mens Advanced Singles—Rick Whately defeated Roger Dresbach, 6-0, 6-3.

Mens Advanced Doubles—Peter Sobatoka-David Pollack beat Doug McClelland-Rick Whately, 6-3, 6-2.

Womens Doubles—Joyce Sobatoka-Maggie Farthing stopped Susan Crist-Susan Radcliff, 7-6, 6-3.

Mixed Doubles—Pete and Joyce Sobatoka topped Mike Sparks and Susan Crist, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

The Intermediate Doubles was called due to darkness and will resume 5:30 p.m. today. Gene Smith and John Magill were leading Milt Parsons and Fred Hoover 4-1 in the second set after Parsons and Hoover had won the first set.

CHS Names New Coaches

Circleville Board of Education approved the appointment of Tom Cole as head baseball coach at Circleville High School.

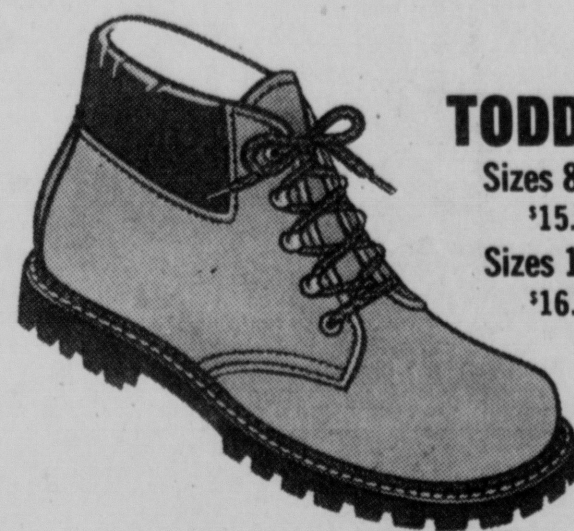

Ty Ankrom was approved as assistant baseball coach and the cross country coach approval went to Jim Diltz.

Jim Delaney Upsets Karl Meiler In Tennis

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "It feels good," rookie Jim Delaney said Thursday after reaching the quarterfinals of a major tournament with an upset victory in the $50,000 Buckeye Tennis Championships.

The unseeded Delaney surprised third-seeded Karl Meiler of Germany, 7-6, 6-3, to guarantee himself a check of at least $1,300, his largest yet.

YMCA Tennis Concludes CHS Names New Coaches

The YMCA tennis tournament concluded with the finals being played at the Circleville High School courts.

Here are the results of the finals: Mens Advanced Singles—Rick Whately defeated Roger Dresbach, 6-0, 6-3.

Mens Advanced Doubles—Peter Sobatoka-David Pollack beat Doug McClelland-Rick Whately, 6-3, 6-2.

Womens Doubles—Joyce Sobatoka-Maggie Farthing-stopped Susan Crist-Susan Radcliff, 7-6, 6-3.

Mixed Doubles—Pete and Joyce Sobatoka topped Mike Sparks and Susan Crist, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

The Intermediate Doubles was called due to darkness and will resume 5:30 p.m. today. Gene Smith and John Magill were leading Milt Parsons and Fred Hoover 4-1 in the second set after Parsons and Hoover had won the first set.

Circleville Board of Education approved the appointment of Tom Cole as head baseball coach at Circleville High School.

Ty Ankrom was approved as assistant baseball coach and the cross country coach approval went to Jim Diltz.

Jim Delaney Upsets Karl Meiler In Tennis

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "It feels good," rookie Jim Delaney said Thursday after reaching the quarterfinals of a major tournament with an upset victory in the $50,000 Buckeye Tennis Championships.

The unseeded Delaney surprised third-seeded Karl Meiler of Germany, 7-6, 6-3, to guarantee himself a check of at least $1,300, his largest yet.

Salt Walther Plans Heavy Race Slate

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Salt Walther headed for Talladega 500 with a new sponsor and a firm commitment to run at least six stock and Indianapolis-type car races this season.

Smithville Farms, owned by Norris Reed, a wealthy Charlotte, N.C., farmer, joined the Walther team. That means 15 more letters will be added to the Moraine Body Shop-Dayton Walther special.

"Johnny Rutherford has run for him the last couple of years," said Walther. "That puts Johnny out of a ride, but that's life in the city."

Walther had his first look at the Talladega International Speedway last week. The raindelayed seventh annual Talladega 500 will be held Sunday.

"I'm looking forward to it," said Walther. "I had never seen Daytona, but I qualified 24th and was running 13th in the race before I fell out."

Walther will be running his 1975 Chevy Laguna, which was badly banged up at Michigan. Not only has it undergone repairs, but modifications as well.

"The front end of my car will be lowered two inches, same as all the top NASCAR stocks," Walther said. "This makes the car handle better, gives it better traction."

"Reed has an identical car to mine."

I'll use two of his engines, his trucks, trailers. Maybe later this year I'll run his car."

After Talladega, Walther will run at least two other NASCAR events—Michigan International Speedway Aug. 24 and Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 9. He also is committed for three USAC championship car division races—MIS Sept. 13, Trenton, N.J., Sept. 21 and Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 1.

"I've never raced so much in my life as I have this year," said Walther. "By the time I get to Michigan, I'll be damn competitive. So far, the stockcar has made money."

"There was a story the other week in a national racing publication which said that I paid Walther Ballard $4,500 for a stock ride in Daytona."

"Sure I did, cash on the line. But that's not the whole story. First of all most of the money wasn't mine. I was given a certain amount of money by Moraine Body Shop, plus a number of other people. On top of that I used some of my own money."

"Even if I had spent all of my own money, I consider it a good investment. I'm trying to learn and driving Daytona was a great experience."

"Hell, I'm not the first to do it and I won't be the last. It cost Darrell Waltrip $3,000 to buy his way in the Michigan race after he blew up."

Soap Box Derby Set Saturday

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Seven of the 100 All-American Soap Box Derby championship hopefuls struggled to beat a deadline today for removing the construction violations that threatens elimination of their racers.

Otherwise, today's only major activity was the traditional parade through downtown Akron.

Last year three contestants were disqualified after the examinations designed to determine whether the youngsters actually built their own racers as the rules require.

But officials said they doubted any of this year's would-be world champs will fail to get a chance to take the 950-foot plunge on the three-lane Derby Downs track.

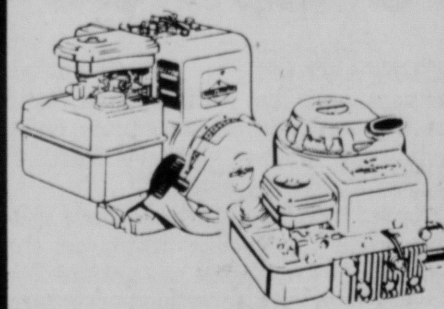

Scrunched into miniature race cars the floorboards of which an adult can bridge with the spread fingers of one hand, the helmeted drivers peer over cowlings virtually at eye level as, nearly lying on their backs, they swoop to the finish line at speeds up to 35 miles an hour.

The rumbling, jolting ride typically lasts about 27½ seconds, the culmination of months of effort to streamline and polish their cars enough to cut a fraction of a second off their time.

The reconstruction of New York's Yankee Stadium and surrounding projects will cost more than $57 million.

New York City's National Boat Show is listed for Jan. 10-18.

After Talladega, Walther will run at least two other NASCAR events—Michigan International Speedway Aug. 24 and Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 9. He also is committed for three USAC championship car division races—MIS Sept. 13, Trenton, N.J., Sept. 21 and Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 1.

"I've never raced so much in my life as I have this year," said Walther. "By the time I get to Michigan, I'll be damn competitive. So far, the stockcar has made money."

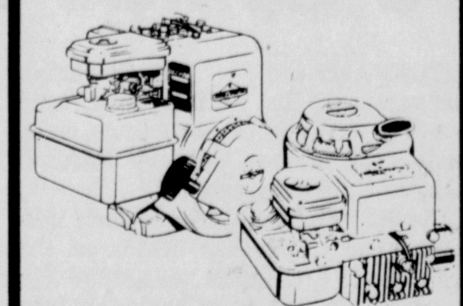

"There was a story the other week in a national racing publication which said that I paid Walther Ballard $4,500 for a stock ride in Daytona."

"Sure I did, cash on the line. But that's not the whole story. First of all most of the money wasn't mine. I was given a certain amount of money by Moraine Body Shop, plus a number of other people. On top of that I used some of my own money."

"Even if I had spent all of my own money, I consider it a good investment. I'm trying to learn and driving Daytona was a great experience."

"Hell, I'm not the first to do it and I won't be the last. It cost Darrell Waltrip $3,000 to buy his way in the Michigan race after he blew up."

Dennie Meyer Leads At Hartford

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — He's an obscure little club pro who had just shot himself a smooth seven-under-par 64 and, in probably the biggest surprise of the season on the pro golf tour, owned the firstround lead in the $200,000 Greater Hartford Open.

Pretty exciting for Dennie Meyer, right? Thrilling stuff. Leading a pro tournament and shooting 64 and going for a $40,000 first prize. It's got to be exciting, nervous-making, right?

"It does not compare with playing with Arnold Palmer," said Dennie Meyer. "That was the highlight of my golfing career."

Meyer, a 31-year-old pro at a public course outside Palm Springs, Calif., played with Palmer last week in the

Buffalo Bills To Be Tough Again

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Coach Lou Saban, who has made the Buffalo Bills a winner since his return here in 1972, says this about his 1975 team: "We must face the prospect of living up to our reputation."

A year ago, with a team he often described as young, Saban coached the Bills to a 9-5 record and a National Football League playoff berth.

"We have become a consistent winner, a playoff participant and a championship contender," he says.

Now, Saban no longer is saying

Fish Takes Preparation

By JIM DAUBEL
Written for Associated Press

The worst way to prepare fresh fish for the table is to poach it first on a stringer.

And, yet, much good meat is wasted in hot weather by fishermen who fail to take a few simple precautions against spoilage.

Dangling fish over the side of a boat on a stringer is a poor way to keep them fresh, especially in July and August when few species can survive the combination of hot sun and warm water.

Once dead, fish deteriorate rapidly. The hotter the temperature, the faster bacteria acts to break down tissues and, ultimately, taint the meat.

Actually, some Ohio fish species keep better than others.

In cool weather, largemouth and smallmouth bass, northern pike, chain pickerel and catfish can live for several hours on a stringer provided they are held through one or both lips with a safety pin-type clasp and allowed to move around enough to wash water through their gills.

A rope stringer threaded through the gills holds a large number of fish, but none will live for long.

The more delicate species, often the fish whose flesh is sweetest and most highly prized, die quickly after being caught and lose quality rapidly. Included are white bass, crappie, bluegill, walleye, perch and trout.

If you can't keep fish alive, they should be iced down as quickly as possible in warm weather.

Toting an ice chest or foam plastic cooler is well worth the effort and boat space if you plan to keep fish to eat.

Fish stay coolest buried in crushed or cube ice, but block ice keeps much longer.

Some fishermen prefer to remove the entrails before icing fish down, but I doubt if the bother is justified.

Dressed or not, fish should be iced as soon as they are caught. Water should be drained from the cooler often. Fish soften and lose flavor in prolonged soaking, no matter how cold the water.

Fish should be kept well iced until they can be cleaned and refrigerated. The sooner they are eaten the better, although fish do freeze well if packed in plastic containers with water to prevent freezer burn.

17-Year-Old Leads Grand Am Trapshoot

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — Once again, as in the past halfdozen tournaments, a young shooter was in the limelight as the 76th annual Grand American Handicap trapshooting event opened here Thursday.

Gary Rainey Jr., 17, of Carlisle, Ill., was the only gunner to break 100 straight targets in the Introductory International.

It was the first perfect score for Rainey in international shooting.

3 Rookies Given Nod By Paul Brown

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals Coach Paul Brown says he plans to start three rookie linebackers against the Buffalo Bills Friday night.

third round of the PGA National Championship.

"I played with Palmer and I lived through it," the still awestruck Meyer said Thursday. "This is a cupcake after that. I don't think I'll ever be nervous again."

Meyer, cool, calm and collected as could be in this, only his sixth tour event of the year — and maybe his last — scored eight birdies, one-putted 10 times and once holed a breaking, curling, 40-foot sidehill putt to save par.

"I really hadn't planned on playing here but last week Dave Stockton (the defending champion in this event) told me it was a pretty short course. I'm

"we're young."

"We have experience and we have depth," he says.

Heartening to Saban was the condition of his veterans and the rookies who reported to training camp at Niagara University.

"Our men came back in excellent shape," he says. "Because of the squad's excellent condition and overall experience, we've been able to keep the workouts brief and business-like. The players have shown an enthusiasm we think is indicative of their outlook for this season."

The offensive front four, all veterans, are guards Reggie McKenzie and Joe DeLamielleure and tackles Dave Foley and Donnie Green.

Saban hopes to use Reuben Gant, who missed most of last season with a shoulder injury, at tight end and shift Paul Seymour to tackle.

He has three wide receivers in J.D. Hill, Ahmad Rashad and Bob Chandler and Saban says "I like to think they are the three finest in the league."

The Bills are set with their one-two punch of running back O.J. Simpson, who is hoping for a fourth straight 1,000-plus yard season, and his backfield mate, Jim Braxton.

To assist them, Saban is counting on rookie Tom Donchez of Penn State and fellow Nittany Lions alumnus Gary Hayman, who missed 13 games a year ago after breaking a leg in the season-opener.

Joe Ferguson, now in his third year, will be the Bills' starting quarterback with sophomore Gary Marangi waiting in the wings.

The Bills greatly strengthened their defense by obtaining defensive right end Pat Toomay from the Dallas Cowboys and cornerback Earlie Thomas from the New York Jets.

The Bills' glaring weakness is the linebacking corps. John Skorupan, also hurt last year, is the only quality linebacker. Doug Allen is working at the middle and converted running back Bo Cornell at the other outside position.

Saban had counted on his first two draft picks, Tom Rudd and Bob Nelson, both of Nebraska, to take up the slack, but so far the Bills have not been able to sign them to contracts.

Like all coaches, Saban figures the team must stay healthy to win.

"But we can survive because of our depth," he says.

And that's still his objective. He really doesn't entertain any thoughts of winning the tournament or staying on the tour. He's going home as soon as this one is over.

"I've got a nice home and a nice wife and a nice family," he said. "I don't think I want to try it on the tour unless something unforeseen and unexpected happens — like winning the tournament."

Meyer held a one-stroke lead over his playing partner, rookie tourist Austin Straub, and Don Bies, tied at 65.

The group at 66, five under par on the tight, little 6,598 yard Wethersfield Country Club course, was made up of J.C. Snead, Hubert Green, Mike Hill, Andy North and David Glenz.

U.S. Open champion Lou Graham topped a group at 67. Johnny Miller birdied two of his last three holes for a 69 and was tied at that figure with Gary Player and Stockton. Lee Trevino fought to a 72, eight strokes back of the surprise leader, and must improve if he is to make the cut for the last two rounds.

Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf, Bruce Crampton and four-time Hartford winner Billy Casper are not competing.

Tigers Don't Lose; Don't Play

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers didn't lose Thursday. They didn't play, either, and it may be just as well. The Bengals' fans, just like the players, have lost patience after 18 consecutive losing days.

"Is it true they're going to put paper bags on the seats at Tiger Stadium like they do on airplanes?" asked one frustrated fan in a letter to a Detroit newspaper.

"No, not true at all" was the printed reply. "It's the garbage on the field that's the problem."

Another reader said, "The Tigers should be charged with fraud for impersonating a professional baseball team."

The charges were pending as the Tigers boarded a plane for — no, not oblivion, but for Anaheim, Calif. Against the Angels tonight, Detroit will try to break the 18-game losing string that has brought them within two of the American League record and five of the modern major league mark held by the 1961 Philadelphia Phillies.

"There's no question that the attitude that has built up this last week on the team is that we gotta win this game tonight," said Tigers Manager Ralph Houk. "No one likes to lose a ball game. All losses are frustrating. One isn't more frustrating than another. It hasn't gotten to what are called Dog Days yet."

But the kennel beckons. The Angels have a one-game winning streak.

California rode a five-run third inning to a 5-3 triumph over the Boston Red Sox Thursday night, and elsewhere, the Oakland A's topped the New York Yankees 5-1 and the Chicago White Sox tripped the Cleveland Indians 6-4 in an abbreviated American League schedule.

Angels 5, Red Sox 3
A two-run double by Jerry Remy and a two-run single by Lee Stanton keyed a five-run third inning and backed Bill Singer's first victory since June 9 as California beat Boston for the second time in three games.

Red Sox rookie Fred Lynn had two RBI, raising his league-leading total to 85.

White Sox 6, Indians 4
Pat Kelly cracked a home run and a two-run triple to power Chicago past Cleveland for Jim Kaat's 17th victory. Kelly's eighth home run of the season came in the seventh inning to tie the game at 4-4 before doubles by Jorge Orta and Deron Johnson gave Chicago a 5-4 lead.

John Ellis and Rico Carty cracked solo home runs off Kaat. Bill Stein launched one for the White Sox.

A's 5, Yankees 1
Bill North's tie-breaking single in the eighth and sloppy New York fielding led to a four-run inning and lifted Oakland to victory. The crowd of 14,140 gave the A's a season home attendance of 853,455 — more than 8,000 over their total for last season.

Dick Bosman pitched a fivehitter to beat Rudy May, who has received a total of five runs in support over his last four games.

BOOM ON SHARK JAWS—Ralph Ferguson holds one of the many shark jaws he is selling fast since the movie was released. Shark jaws had collected dust for years on the shelves of Ferguson's warehouse at Wilmington, Calif. His original inventory of 15,000 jaws was down to 5,000 and going fast.

Who Fired First At Kent State?

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two earwitnesses to the 1970 Kent State University shootings testified Thursday they thought the first shot came from a small-caliber weapon.

The testimony was offered by John A. Bambeck of Medina, a surveyor working on a campus construction site the day of the shooting, and Arthur L. Reedy, a state highway patrolman stationed at an intersection about half a mile from the shooting site.

The trial for $46 million in damages recessed Thursday after the jury was denied a hearing of a tape purporting to show the different sounds made by a .30-caliber rifle and .22-caliber weapon.

Before the recess, the panel of six men and six women deciding damages claims also heard the Ohio National Guard's coordinator of training testify to the authenticity of documents introduced in evidence to show that the state Guard met requirements set by the Army.

Bambeck, who said he was a gun collector, testified the first shot he heard May 4, 1970, came from a .22-caliber weapon firing from near the campus gymnasium. It was the first testimony to place the opening shot of the 13-second volley south of the troops who shot 13 students.

The shooting killed four students and wounded nine. The victims seek the damages from present and former state officials and guardsmen involved in the incident.

Reedy said the first shot he heard was separated from the rest by a second or two.

"It was sound that I normally associated with a .22," he said.

One of the principal items the defense has promised to show is that the shooting could have been a response to a shot from a nonmilitary weapon.

Many witnesses have said the first shot came from guardsmen's weapons. Other witnesses have said the first shot came from an area northwest of the troops.

Former Sgt. Dennis L. Breckenridge, who was dismissed last Thursday as a defendant, told the court he believed he fired five times. He said he thought the troops were about to be overtaken by the demonstrators.

"The reason I was scared was I thought they (sic) was going to come in on us," the 32-year-old truck driver said. "As I heard first shot, I just flipped the safety off and fired."

The first transcontinental airmail route between San Francisco and New York was started in 1920.

Amendments Professional Liability Snag Rises Position Designated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted Brown has designated the positions of the anticipated nine constitutional amendments on the ballot for the November general election.

The determination Thursday came after a meeting of the Ohio Ballot Board to prepare ballot language and official explanations of the five amendments initiated by the General Assembly.

The other proposals were from Gov. James A. Rhodes who collected petitions to place the amendments on the ballot. The signatures on those petitions are being validated by the secretary of state before the amendments are certified for the ballot.

If all nine are okayed, the order would be:

One — To permit outdoor recreational lands to be valued for tax purposes at the current value for recreational use.

Two — To create and preserve jobs by means of tax incentives to industries which build new plants or expand existing facilities.

Three — To authorize the issuance of bonds and notes of $1.75 billion from the levy of an additional nine-tenths of one cent per gallon gasoline tax for the development of highway and other transportation facilities.

Four — To provide assistance for housing, nursing, extended care and other health care facilities.

Five — To authorize the issuance of $2.75 billion of bonds and notes to be paid by a seven-tenths of one cent sales and use tax for capital improvements for governmental subdivisions, including energy, heart and cancer facilities.

Six — To require the General Assembly to provide methods to give each candidate's name reasonably equal treatment on the ballot by rotation or other methods appropriate to the voting procedure used.

Seven — To require delegates to the national conventions of political parties to be chosen by the voters in a manner provided by law.

Eight — To permit the state or any of its political subdivisions to give or loan its credit to aid federal corporations and state agencies for the reorganization of the railroad system in the state and to allow the reduction of taxes on property used for rail transportation service and allow the state to reimburse local governments for revenues lost as a result of such tax reductions.

Nine — To allow the General Assembly to authorize and regulate the operation of bingo games conducted by charitable organizations for charitable purposes.

Burglary Probed By Sheriff's Deputy

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department is investigating a major house burglary that occurred at the residence of James Hlay, Route 3, Orient Thursday.

Deputy James D. Dixon reported that stereo equipment, guns, calculators, photography equipment, jewelry, a television set and other household items were taken from the home.

NAPOLEON, Ohio (AP) — Two lawyers who are part-time public officials in Napoleon have been unable to get malpractice insurance to cover them in their public jobs.

Sources within the insurance industry said the earlier malpractice problems of doctors may be a sign of the times for all professional people, especially those who mix public and private practice.

Marlow Witt, Napoleon's law director, and Ronald P. Lankenau, a municipal judge, said they haven't been able to find insurance to cover them in their city jobs.

When they renewed their professional liability policies, they discovered they weren't covered from lawsuits lodged against them as public officials.

OCSEA Rips Road Hiring

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Civil Service Employees Association charged Thursday the state Transportation Department is illegally hiring new employees to do the work of laid off workers.

Karl E. Stewart, OCSEA executive director, said in a statement the department began Aug. 11 hiring about 500 high school and college youths under a $685,000 appropriation by the legislature for a state-federally funded summer youth employment program.

"Now we have a situation where regular employees are out of work because DOT said there was a lack of work, and new employees are performing the work that was 'not there,'" Stewart said.

He said state civil service laws forbid the hiring of new employees in the same classifications as laid off employees or to perform the same work as recently-furloughed employees.

Shot-over, a town in the mountains above Port Antonio, Jamaica, is a corruption of Chateau-Verte, the name given by its original French settlers.

Both are continuing their public duties, but they said they thought they were doing so at a risk.

An insurance industry spokesman said problem is the result of an increasing number of lawsuits against professionals of all sorts, especially those who mix public and private affairs.

"I'm not sure you could call it a trend," said Douglas Avery, vice president of the Ohio Independent Insurance Agents Association in Columbus, "but it is obvious that professional liability is going to be an increasingly difficult line to insure."

Few lawyers, he said, pay into insurance pools to offset the high cost of lawsuits and thus are among the more susceptible to higher insurance costs and a scarcity of malpractice insurance.

Witt, Napoleon's law director for 13 years, asked City Council to assume the risk for himself, Lankenau and other municipal court employees who might be named in a lawsuit. Council took the request under advisement.

Clerk-Treasurer Rupert Schweinhagen said a search for new coverage is underway. He said the firm which insures city police refuses to add other city officials to the policy.

Both Witt and Lankenau said the city must either obtain the coverage or agree to pay legal fees and judgments in case they are sued. "Under these new civil rights laws, you can sue for anything," Witt said.

Witt, however, said he has been sued once in his years as law director. It was a civil rights suit that he said was quickly dismissed. He said he also recalled one medical malpractice suit being filed here in 16 years.

Lankenau took objection to one insurance agent's view that the lawyers have themselves to blame because of their role in the growing number of lawsuits.

"It's often blamed on lawyers, but lawyers don't grant verdicts," he said. "Laymen grant verdicts."

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): The restrained, quiet approach to situations will win over more people and points than any other way now. But inner spunk and enthusiasm will also count.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Your planets, favorable, urge you to take the lead where you can to help in straightening out situations which could worsen through neglect.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A new contact may give you an unusual idea for furthering your goals. Your keenness and convincing words should help you in adapting and putting it over.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): A day that can bend as you direct, but one that requires quick thinking to keep it from the losing column through neglect and (or) unprofitable detours.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Hasty decisions and moves may be day's undoing. Help maintain truths, don't stray from YOUR path. No deviating from sound opinions nor letting down in standards!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Here, too, is need for careful decisions, but not fussiness. That faithful tried-and-found-true demeanor for you!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Maintain a business-like approach in serious matters without, however, taking yourself or others too seriously. Challenges indicated now should uplift, give you new ideas.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Wait for needed facts before taking action, but don't dally so long that you actually lose out on opportunities. Stress good judgment.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Consider results from past decisions or activities you intend repeating. If they were inadequate, strive to better your efforts this time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You may experience temptations to dodge obligations, to "take off" on tangents. DON'T! This is a day in which you can only achieve through stick-to-itiveness.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A day which calls for careful discrimination. Listen thoughtfully, observe, but do not read meanings into things not intended. Stars warn against hasty decisions.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Better-than-ordinary planetary influences. Take up the reins and drive straight, strong and with eagerness. Adhere to the well-defined procedures, however.

YOU BORN TODAY are a vibrant and interesting individual, endowed with excellent gifts of leadership and organizational ability. Idealistic, enthusiastic and remarkably intuitive, you have the capacity to make friends in all walks of life—and keep them. You are versatile, too, and the fields in which you could succeed are almost limitless, but you could make your most outstanding mark in either the worlds of science or music. Satellite Photos Taken Of Lakes

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — Satellite photographs are being used by scientists here to evaluate about 100 of the nation's lakes in studies which may cut costs for future water quality monitoring.

Using the Earth Resources Technology Satellite, the study group examines photographs taken from 569 miles and compares them with ground samples.

David Boland, physical geography expert for the U.S. Environmental Research Center, says the team may eventually determine the quality of lakes without visiting them.

Boland said the survey is designed to identify major lakes which have potential or existing "aging problems" caused by municipal sewage discharges and runoff from other sources.

State Constitution Passes Centennial

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' first Constitution was written in 1836. The state is still governed by the Constitution of 1874.

The National Automobile Club says that motorists started buying gasoline by the dollar rather than by the gallon in 1933 with the addition of a "cost" gauge to gasoline pumps.

Your Horoscope Television Schedule

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): The restrained, quiet approach to situations will win over more people and points than any other way now. But inner spunk and enthusiasm will also count.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Your planets, favorable, urge you to take the lead where you can to help in straightening out situations which could worsen through neglect.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A new contact may give you an unusual idea for furthering your goals. Your keenness and convincing words should help you in adapting and putting it over.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): A day that can bend as you direct, but one that requires quick thinking to keep it from the losing column through neglect and (or) unprofitable detours.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Hasty decisions and moves may be day's undoing. Help maintain truths, don't stray from YOUR path. No deviating from sound opinions nor letting down in standards!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Here, too, is need for careful decisions, but not fussiness. That faithful tried-and-found-true demeanor for you!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Maintain a business-like approach in serious matters without, however, taking yourself or others too seriously. Challenges indicated now should uplift, give you new ideas.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Wait for needed facts before taking action, but don't dally so long that you actually lose out on opportunities. Stress good judgment.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Consider results from past decisions or activities you intend repeating. If they were inadequate, strive to better your efforts this time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You may experience temptations to dodge obligations, to "take off" on tangents. DON'T! This is a day in which you can only achieve through stick-to-itiveness.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A day which calls for careful discrimination. Listen thoughtfully, observe, but do not read meanings into things not intended. Stars warn against hasty decisions.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Better-than-ordinary planetary influences. Take up the reins and drive straight, strong and with eagerness. Adhere to the well-defined procedures, however.

YOU BORN TODAY are a vibrant and interesting individual, endowed with excellent gifts of leadership and organizational ability. Idealistic, enthusiastic and remarkably intuitive, you have the capacity to make friends in all walks of life—and keep them. You are versatile, too, and the fields in which you could succeed are almost limitless, but you could make your most outstanding mark in either the worlds of science or music. You have a strong sense of justice, and could make an estimable success of the law; you could also excel in painting or photography. If business attracts you, the world of finance would be your best bet. Birthdate of: Jean de la Bruyere, French author; Eydie Gorme, singer.

Satellite Photos Taken Of Lakes

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — Satellite photographs are being used by scientists here to evaluate about 100 of the nation's lakes in studies which may cut costs for future water quality monitoring.

Using the Earth Resources Technology Satellite, the study group examines photographs taken from 569 miles and compares them with ground samples.

David Boland, physical geography expert for the U.S. Environmental Research Center, says the team may eventually determine the quality of lakes without visiting them.

Boland said the survey is designed to identify major lakes which have potential or existing "aging problems" caused by municipal sewage discharges and runoff from other sources.

State Constitution Passes Centennial

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' first Constitution was written in 1836. The state is still governed by the Constitution of 1874.

The National Automobile Club says that motorists started buying gasoline by the dollar rather than by the gallon in 1933 with the addition of a "cost" gauge to gasoline pumps.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Nero Victorious In Scioto Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nero, the wonder colt, streaked the mile in 1:58.25 to win the $12,500 Scarlet and Gray Pace at Scioto Downs Thursday night for his 27th triumph in 29 lifetime starts.

The bay with the blazing speed, who had built a bankroll of $337,303 going into Thursday night's race, toured the final half-mile in :27.3. Winning by 3 1/2 lengths over Omaha Kid, Nero returned $2.20. Lincolns Leader finished third. There was only win wagering on the stake.

The 6-2 daily double combination of Moon Rush and Bonnie Hill was worth $37.80. A crowd of 8,104 wagered $459,513.

In March 1766, repeal of the Stamp Act in Britain was followed by the Declaratory Act claiming the King, by and with the consent of Parliament, had authority to make laws to bind colonies in all respects.

A clipper ship was so called because of the long overhanging prow and sharp lines.

metals and automobiles and drawing, $2 each per semester; art, $2 per year; driver education, $2 per student.

Junior high fees: home economics, $1 per year for grades seven and eight and $1.50 per year for grade nine; industrial arts, $1 per year for grades seven and eight and $2 per year for grade nine plus the cost of materials for individual projects; art, $1 for grades seven and eight and $2 for grade nine.

Other student costs approved include $4 per year for kindergarten students. Jacobs said this fee was exclusive of workbooks. A portion of the fee goes for the Weekly Reader and the remainder is for supplies. Elementary art students will pay 50 cents per year.

The board also approved an increase in the prices of both student and adult lunches and approved the a la carte prices for the high school cafeteria. The new price of the school lunch during the 1975-76 school year will be 45 cents for students and 70 cents for adults. These figures represent a five cent increase in the student lunch and a ten cent increase for adults.

Extra milk for students will be six cents for white and seven cents for chocolate. Extra milk for adults will be 11 cents for white and 12 cents for chocolate.

Approval was given for one county student to attend the city's kindergarten classes as a tuition student. The board also approved the attendance of 14 children to the Brooks-Yates School and nine to handicapped schools in the Columbus Public School System. The board pays tuition and transportation for those students who attend public schools for the handicapped.

Approval was also given for one student to be transported to the high school by her family at the rate of $3 per day and for another student to be transported to an autistic program when the location is established. The board employed John Robinson to transport the handicapped students to the Columbus schools at a maximum cost of $5 per day per child.

Two major purchases were approved during the meeting. The board agreed to purchase two new school buses. Advertisement for the buses will be made with the opening of bids scheduled for Sept. 10. Jacobs advised the board that he was making the recommendation to purchase the buses now because it takes up to ten months to get delivery.

It has been the board's policy to buy one or two new buses each year to keep up the fleet. Buses are considered for replacement when they are either ten years old or have 100,000 miles. Jacobs said two buses in the fleet will have 100,000 miles on them by the end of the current school year.

Also approved for purchase was a Burroughs electronic bookkeeping machine for the clerk's office. The board heard a report from both clerk Mary Ellen Rader and Superintendent Jacobs on the need of the machine and the capabilities of the one recommended for purchase.

The machine was approved for purchase at a price of $21,514.77 less $3,500 for the trade-in of the present machine, making the board pay $18,014.77. With the new machine, the clerk can now complete the payroll instead of sending it out to be done which will be a $115 per month savings to the board.

An increase in the major medical insurance rates was presented to the board for approval. The new rates effective Sept. 1, will mean an increase of 73 cents in the employee rate, $1.15 in the dependant rate and $1.88 in the family rate. The board pays the employee rate.

Mrs. Shirley Wylie was appointed by the board as the delegate to the Ohio School Boards Association business meeting on Nov. 10. Forrest Brown was appointed alternate delegate.

The board approved a change in plans for the restoration of room 109 to classroom facility. Originally, the board had approved for J. Boyd Stout to complete the work and to replace any defective tile. After a closer look, the board found that a whole new tile floor would be more practical so approval was given for Robert Dumm to do the flooring job for $464. Stout gave the board a $100 credit for the work he will not complete so the job will cost a net of $364.

Results of the budget hearing before the county budget commission were presented to the board and approval was given for the establishment of those rates. The new valuation after appraisal in the district totals $74,498,628. This means a millage reduction of voted levies from 22.6 mills to 18.7 mills plus three mills inside leaving a total for current expenses at 21.7 mills. The bond and interest millage was reduced by the budget commission from 3.4 to 2.9 which is a .5 reduction.

Jacobs explained to the board that the review was made so that the millage rate could be reduced at the same rate as the valuation was increased. The old valuation was approximately $60,000,000. He also said that basically the district received a 4½ mill reduction. State law requires school districts to have at least 20 mills in order to qualify for state funds.

The board also approved the three home economics teachers, Wendy Clutterbuck, Betty Rickey and Nancy Shelton, to attend the 1975 Vocational Home Economics Teachers Conference in Columbus as part of their extended service, Aug. 25-27.

Mrs. Doris Gillespie's dates for extended service were revised to allow her to work Aug. 20, 25, 26, 27, and 28.

Four internal transfers in the appropriation were approved as recommended by the clerk. The board also approved the rate of $6.70 per hour for a teacher to handle the after school time for driver education classes.

In final action before adjournment, the board approved the recommended policy statement for free and reduced price meals for qualifying students.

The board will meet again in regular session on Sept. 11. Board members present at the meeting Thursday were Mrs. Wylie, Brown, Thomas Elsea and Dr. Robert Liggett.

Rain Bands Reported Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Broad bands of showers and thunderstorms stretched across the country today. Temperatures were below normal from the Rockies to the Great Lakes, but it was hot in New England.

The showers and thunderstorms were scattered from the middle Mississippi Valley to the middle Atlantic Coast and in the northern Plains.

There were showers also in the southeast quarter of the nation, in the northern Rockies and in the upper Mississippi Valley.

Skies were partly cloudy over much of the rest of the country.

The below normal temperatures stretched from the northern Rockies across the northern and central Plains into the western Great Lakes region.

Seasonably warm temperatures prevailed elsewhere, except for above average readings in New England.

Thunderstorms dropped over three inches of rain on portions of central Illinois on Thursday before moving out of the state overnight.

Showers and thunderstorms during the night ranged through the Rockies and from west Texas to the Ohio Valley. There were showers also along the Gulf of Mexico.

Clouds kept overnight temperatures near the seasonal norm across most of the nation. No records were threatened this morning, although there was a frost threat in the Colorado mountains.

Temperature extremes over the nation early today ranged from 90 at both Blythe and Needles, Calif. to 47 at Laramie, Wyo.
